ITALIA FLIES OVER ARCTIC ON NEW TRIP

Dirigible Passes Fog Banks Successfully — Wireless Message Reports Good Progress Made

JOURNEY TO TAKE ABOUT TWO DAYS

To Explore Leninland Is Object—Half Way There and Over Franz Josef Land, Says Radio

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, May 15.—Gen. Umberto Nobile made a fresh start today on his exploration of the Arctic regions. The dirigible Italia went into the air at 1:20 p.m. The weather was fine and all conditions apparently favorable.

The crews of the Italia and the supply ship Citta di Milano worked through the night making preparations, while their commander paced nervously up and down the hangar directing operations. The Italia will try to fly to Nicholas II Land, now known as Leninland. She will follow the ice trail to the north, then pass over Franz Josef Land to her destination, if possible. Three hours after the start the airship was over the north coast of Spitzbergen. She is expected to return Thursday night.

SECOND ATTEMPT

This was the Italia's second start, her first having proved fruitless owing to fog and snow, which forced a return to her base.

At 7 o'clock the Italia reported by radio that it had reached the vicinity of Franz Josef Land, about halfway to its objective of Leninland. It had passed the fog banks which had obscured part of the early journey and there was then good visibility for a distance of thirty kilometres in all directions.

If the good weather holds when Leninland is reached, it is proposed to land Professor Petromoli and two naval officers to make photographic and topographic examination of that little-known land, which is still represented by an incomplete outline on maps.

ROME GETS REPORT

ROME, May 15.—The dirigible Italia has reached hitherto unexplored parts of the Arctic, according to a radio message from General Umberto Nobile received by the Stefani news agency here. No land had been sighted up to 9 p.m., Greenwich time, when the message was sent.

The message said that the dirigible had become heavy with ice, which formed on its side during the flight through fog, and adverse wind had cut the speed of the great ship down to fifty kilometres.

Provincial Officials Are Recommended as Returning Officers

OTTAWA, May 15.—Appointment of sheriffs, registrars or other provincial officers as returning officers in Federal elections was recommended to the house committee on privileges today by Jules Castenguay, chief electoral officer, when the committee continued its investigation into the Athabasca election of 1925. Corrupt practices against a number of deputy returning officers had been proven by a probe conducted by Mr. Justice Clarke, of Edmonton, and the evidence upon which the commissioner had based his findings was produced to the committee.

Senate Deletes Amendment as to Liquor Imports

OTTAWA, May 15.—The Senate tonight deleted the amendment to the act respecting interprovincial and international traffic in intoxicating liquors, which permitted the transportation from one province to another of a half gallon or less.

Senator Dandurand read protests from nearly all the provinces affected, against the amendment.

Senator W. B. Ross again instanced the case of a traveler from one province to the other who innocently carried a small flask. Senator Dandurand replied that no amendment had been submitted which covered this case, but he thought the provinces should give such protection by regulation.

Two Constables Tell Investigation Commission of Results of Narcotic Arrests in That City

STORY OF "FACE POWDER" FLIGHT

VANCOUVER, May 15.—"There was no law in Chinatown. The Chinamen and a few more were running the place. A policeman was 'not recognised.'"

This was the statement made by Constable H. H. Duggan, in the course of his evidence before the Vancouver police investigation, presided over by Commissioner R. S. Lennie, this afternoon.

Constable Duggan's remark came as a result of questions by W. W. B. McInnes, counsel for Shue Moy. Chinese alleged gambling king. Duggan had declared that Shue Moy had told him that he owned several gambling places and Mr. McInnes demanded of the witness why, as a police officer, he had not arrested Shue Moy.

Duggan said he had not even reported this conversation because "he knew his superiors knew" of Shue Moy's activities.

The constable also told of visiting an alleged Chinese gambling place at 17 Trounce Alley, where he found a very young white boy playfully marking lottery tickets. When he asked a Chinese employee about the boy, he was instructed by the Chinese to "mind his own business."

TOLD TO "LAY OFF"

Duggan reported this occurrence to Detective Sergeant George MacLaughlin, of the morality squad, he said, but that officer declared there was "nothing in the Criminal Code" to permit Duggan to lay a charge against the Chinese of contributing to juvenile delinquency. For one week thereafter, Duggan continued, he had "molested" the place, chasing out the inmates and barricading the doors. Then a Chinese offered him $20 to "lay off" the place, but Duggan refused. A few days later, however, Sergeant MacLaughlin told

LORDS APPROVE WAR OUTLAWRY

UNANIMOUS RESOLUTION IS PASSED ON U.S. PLAN IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Lord Cecil Comments on Delay in Foreign Policy Due to Consulting Dominions

LONDON, May 15.—Prompt and favorable acceptance of the proposal of the United States Secretary of State, Frank B. Kellogg, for outlawing war, was unanimously voted by the House of Lords today. This action was taken on motion of the Marquis of Reading, who was High Commissioner to the United States as Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary from January 1918 until May 1919.

The explanation by Lord Reading that the motion was to enable the House of Lords to express their immediate approval of the proposals as it was understood the Government was unable to do so at present owing to the fact that its consultations with the Dominions on the question had not been completed, drew from Lord Cecil some important comment.

TIME-WASTING METHOD

Sooner or later, he said, the Government of Britain would have to consider most carefully what was to be the final shape in which the management of the Empire's foreign affairs would have to be cast. "It is quite right," he declared, "that we should carry with us the assent of the Dominions in everything we do, but it is also quite impossible to admit that our foreign policy should be always held up until the Dominions express their opinion."

PREMIER KING COMMENTS

OTTAWA, May 15.—"Good news," commented Premier Mackenzie King this evening when informed that the House of Lords had voted acceptance of the proposal of U.S. Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg for outlawing war. Mr. King expressed the view that Canada would also accept the proposals when invited to do so. He believed that the feeling throughout the Dominion was strong in favor of so doing.

MONTENEGRO SCULPTOR IS GUEST HERE

Comes to British Columbia to Execute Bust of Brig.-Gen. G. F. Burnham, Residing at Halcyon Springs

PRACTICES NOW IN LONDON

Brajovich Is Zealous Advocate of Self Government of Black Mountain Principality Being Restored

THE Great War made many strange friendships and exiled many patriots among the nationals of the smaller European powers. To both of these causes may be ascribed the arrival here yesterday of Montenegro's only sculptor, Mr. Janko Brajovich, who has been driven from his mountain homeland by the Serbian Government, and has come to British Columbia for the express purpose of executing a portrait bust of Brigadier-General G. F. Burnham, of Halcyon Springs, in recognition of his services to Montenegro through the White Cross.

HAS BEEN IMPRISONED

Mr. Brajovich is a patriot burning with zeal for intervention to restore his principality to the position it held for hundreds of years before the annexation by Serbia, defying the Ottoman power at its zenith, and he has languished two years in a prison in Belgrade, as well as being detained in Italy owing to alleged political offences. He has taken an active part in the propaganda directed to interest the League of Nations in the restoration of the status quo of the Black Mountain principality.

Of his art, it should be said that he has received the support of leading British artists, among them Sir John Lavery, and his studio is that formerly occupied by Dr. Thomas M. Hemy. One of his last commissions was to execute a bust of Sir Woodman Burbidge, whose brother, Mr. H. E. Burbidge, is a resident of this district.

He has executed a colossal figure of the Christ, to be erected, as he hopes, on the Montenegro frontier in somewhat similar manner to the famous "Christ of The Andes." An order has been received by him from expatriated Montenegrins for a war memorial, to contain panels of the story of Montenegro, and names of the leaders who have lost their lives in the war, and in subsequent political persecution.

AN UNFULFILLED PROMISE

Mr. Brajovich came to British Columbia to model the bust of General Burnham. He says he has plenty of commissions ahead to carry him for a long period, and enable him to continue his campaign for the restoration of the country for which Mr. Gladstone argued, and Tennyson wrote poetry. He says it is an unfortunate fact that while Montenegro was expressly included in the declaration of Lord Oxford, when British Prime Minister, as one of the countries to be guaranteed protection, the British policy varied in after years. He says the Montenegro population, which was 1,300,000 in 1914, is so bitter about its transfer to Serbia, that more of their nationality have been slain in insurrections and for political offences since 1919, than fell in the two Balkan wars, and also in the Great War.

The sculptor served as an officer throughout the Great War, and was wounded. He expects to remain here several days, and is registered at the Empress Hotel.

Dr. Stresemann In Critical State; Death Is Feared

BERLIN, May 15.—Grave fears for the life of Dr Gustav Stresemann, Foreign Secretary, were expressed by physicians and members of his family tonight. He is suffering from kidney trouble. He had reached another crisis late tonight, and a possible turn for the worse, before morning, will have to be reckoned with.

ATTEMPTED BRIBERY AT ELECTION CHARGED

CANBERRA, Australia, May 15. (C.P. Cable via Reuter's).—Charges of attempted bribery in connection with the election of Hon. E. G. Theodore, member of the Australian Federal House for the Dalley division of Sydney, N.S.W., formerly Labor Premier of Queensland, having been made by Labor members of the Federal Parliament, Premier M. Bruce has announced that the Government has decided to appoint a royal commission to investigate the charges.

BRITAIN'S REPLY TO BE MADE SOON

LONDON, May 15.—Godfrey Locker-Lampson, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, replying to a question in the House of Commons today, said he hoped that consultations which were being conducted by cable between the British Government and the Dominions on the Kellogg proposal for the outlawry of war, would be concluded at an early date. A reply would then be made to the United States.

JAPAN SENDS EXPLANATION OF HER ACTION

Japanese Minister in Paris Sends Letter to League of Nations With Accompanying Documents

RECOGNITION GIVEN LEAGUE IMPORTANT

GENEVA, May 15.—Japan has officially sent to the League of Nations two documents outlining why Japanese troops were sent to Shantung. The document received today came from M. Sato, Japanese Minister in Paris, who directs Japanese activities at the League of Nations. In a covering letter Sato explained to Sir Eric Drummond, the League secretary, that at the time of the Shantung trouble the Japanese Foreign Minister made two declarations explaining the reasons which led Japan to take action. Hence, Sato said, he desired to refer these to the League for its information. The importance of Sato's communication with its enclosures is felt here to lie in the fact that Japan has now officially recognized that the League is entitled to receive explanations in the matter.

The Foreign Minister's declarations enclosed included the statements made explaining the necessity of dispatching 5,000 troops to Shantung, but emphasized that this should in nowise be interpreted as an act inimicable to the Chinese.

Another document was the governmental declaration of May 9.

PAY JUDGE MORE SAYS COMMITTEE

Report of Parliament Will Approve Increased Salaries for Judges —Not Unanimous

OTTAWA, May 15.—An increase in salary to Canadian judges has been approved by the special Parliamentary committee. The committee's report will, it is stated, recommend an increase of $2,000 to county court judges, the same amount to provincial superior court judges and $3,000 increase for judges of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The committee held its sessions in camera. It is understood the report was only adopted on the casting vote of the chairman.

The committee's recommendation will have to receive the approval of the House.

AUSTRALIA APPROVES U.S. ANTI-WAR PROJECT

CANBERRA, Australia, May 15.—Premier Bruce announced in the Federal House of Representatives today that he had communicated with Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, his hearty approval of the Kellogg proposal for the outlawry of war and Australia's desire to be associated with the pact.

ONE DAY IN SEVEN

WINNIPEG, May 15.—The act, providing for one day of rest in seven, passed at the recent session of the Provincial Legislature, went into effect today. The act provides that all employees engaged in industries carried on within the limits of the cities, shall be entitled to at least twenty-four consecutive hours of rest in every seven days, and on Sunday whenever possible.

Man Disappears Four Days Out at Sea on Steamer

MONTREAL, May 15.—The Canadian Pacific Ocean Services have received an official statement from the company's passenger agent at Glasgow regarding the non-arrival at that port of Wm. Mackenzie, of Hamilton, Ont., who embarked on the steamer Melita when it sailed from Montreal on April 30. According to the official report Mr. Mackenzie disappeared on May 3, when the ship was four days out. The Glasgow report leaves the inference that Mr. Mackenzie went overboard, but there is no mention of eye-witnesses. His absence from his cabin was brought to the attention of the commanding officer and a thorough but fruitless search of the vessel was made.

KEEP SERVICE NONPOLITICAL

CONSERVATIVES AT OTTAWA OPPOSE PROPOSED METHOD OF APPOINTMENT

Dr. Tolmie Says Bill Relating to Revenue Department Leads to Patronage System

OTTAWA, May 15.—Considerable opposition developed during committee stage in the House today against the Government bill to empower the Minister of National Revenue to nominate after examination, appraisers, investigators and members of the customs preventive service for appointment by the civil service commission. The bill was reported from committee. Hon R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, intimated that he would have a couple of amendments to submit on its third reading.

Both the Prime Minister and Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue intimated that the bill followed the recommendations of the royal commission which investigated customs administration.

Conservative criticism was that the bill was the thin end of the wedge to patronage. Mr. Bennett took the view that the board of appraisers should set the examinations, the civil service commission conduct the examinations, and make the appointments, and preference be given to returned soldiers, as was the case under the Civil Service Act.

DR. TOLMIE'S STAND

Dr. Tolmie discussed the proposal to ignore the civil service commission as proposed by Hon W. D. Euler. He said: "What has not been made clear by the minister is whether with his selections as proposed in the bill he is going to improve the conditions or not. I do not see why the civil service commission, properly equipped and furnishing itself with proper information necessary to fill each one of these positions, cannot make just as good a selection and perhaps a more independent one than is suggested under the bill.

"The admission of the minister indicates this is only the thin end of the wedge, as has been suggested by the previous speakers. One of the strongest recommendations for the use of the civil service commission is the fact that the great body of the civil servants of Canada appear to be thoroughly satisfied with it, and also satisfied that it is an improvement on the old patronage system.

"I am opposed to the return to the old patronage system. Civil servants should be allowed to retain their independence. I believe in positions being filled by the civil service in an efficiency at any cost and let us not remain impartial manner. Let us get efficient to the old system of patronage which was so unsatisfactory in the past."

EARTHQUAKE ROCKS PERU AND ECUADOR

Town Left in Ruins With Ten Dead—Cathedral Destroyed — Intermittent Shocks Continue

PANIC CREATED IN CROWD AT THEATRE

LIMA, Peru, May 15.—Reports from Chaichapoyas, capital of the Department of Amazonas, say that town was left in ruins, with ten dead, by the earthquake that rocked the whole northeast section of Peru, and also Ecuador, yesterday. Among the buildings destroyed was the cathedral, a notable example of Spanish colonial architecture. One of the cathedral towers fell into an adjoining school building. Late reports from Northeast Peru say earth movements were continuing intermittently. Repeated shocks are reported at Trujillo, Iquitos, Chilete, Pira, San Miguel de Pieura, Huancabamba and Pacasmayo.

IN ECUADOR

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, May 15.—Repeated earth shocks were felt yesterday throughout Ecuador, the strongest shocks being reported in the Loja region, on the Peruvian frontier.

The church tower collapsed in the town of Yaguachi, near Guayaquil.

A strong shock was felt here at 9:25 o'clock night, throwing theatre crowds into a panic.

L. TEMISKAMING RISING HIGHER

Kapuskasing River Sweeps Away 6,000 Cords of Pulp Wood—Other Streams Recede

COBALT, Ont., May 15.—One death, believed to have been due to the heavy floods in the North this Spring, was reported here today. John Ruben, an Indian trapper, was drowned at Kabina, twenty-three miles west of Hearst, and the Provincial Police are investigating the circumstances, but district headquarters are without details. It is understood the body was not recovered owing to the high waters. Six thousand cords of pulp wood went down the Kapuskasing River when rising ice broke the booms, according to information reaching here from that section.

From other sections were reports of falling water, but Lake Temiskaming is still on the rise, and the wharf at Haileybury is now completely covered. The ice went out last night and with its departure there may be some relief.

Events March Rapidly Toward Final Climax of China's Long Struggle

Fall of Peking Apparently Imminent—Long Rule of Dictator, Chang Tso-Lin, Draws to Close—To Fall Back on Manchuria and Make Stand in Its Defence

Nationalists Prepare Policy as Undisputed Rulers of All China

LONDON, May 15.—The fall of Peking is expected shortly by the Chinese Nationalists, while there is every indication that the long rule of Chang Tso-Lin, the Northern dictator, in Peking, is coming to an end.

Advices from Peking say that Chang was expected to depart from the Northern Capital within a few days, while reports from Nationalist Shanghai even went so far as to say that he had already left Peking in an armored car and had arrived at Tientsin on Sunday.

Northern troops are withdrawing from Poating-fu, ninety miles southwest of Peking. Many field guns are passing through Peking and Tientsin, en route to Chang Tso-Lin's stronghold in Manchuria.

As the Nationalist troops were continuing operations against the Northern capital important developments were reported politically between Japan and the Nanking Government. The Japanese war office in Tokio today instructed General Fukuda, commanding the Japanese forces at Tsinan to present the following terms to the Nationalist Government:

JAPANESE TERMS

First—A formal apology from Chiang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief, in connection with the Tsinan incident.

Second—Punishment of General Ho Yao-Tzu, Nationalist commander, and others primarily responsible for the outrages.

Third—Suspension of hostilities, propaganda and warlike activities within twenty Chinese miles from Tsinan, Tientsin and the Shantung Railway.

Fourth—The Chinese negotiators must produce credentials from Chiang Kai-Shek.

At the same time in Shanghai the Nationalist Government announced an important conference would be held in Nanking tomorrow, "to consider important external diplomatic questions expected to arise following the expected imminent fall of Peking."

While this conference probably will deal with relations of the Nationalist Government and the foreign powers, should Peking fall, it is also likely that the deliberations will include discussion of Japanese demands growing out of the Tsinan incident. Chiang Kai-Shek has arrived at Nanking to attend the conference.

Steel Workers Plan to Extend Strike to Coast

TORONTO, May 15.—Spread of the structural steel workers' strike to other parts of the Eastern provinces; a plan to extend the strike throughout Canada from coast to coast, and inception of effects to effect a settlement of the dispute by the Toronto Building Trades Council, Mayor Sam McBride and Hon. Peter Heenan, Canadian Commissioner of Labor, were developments today following the walkout of more than 300 men engaged in steel construction on large building projects here. The men struck for official recognition by the Dominion Bridge and other steel erecting companies, of the International Union, and for stabilization of wages, which are considered too low and too fluctuating by the men.

ONE OF WEST'S BUILDERS DIES

MR. E. T. GALT PASSES AWAY IN NEW YORK—FIGURE IN ALBERTA HISTORY

Pioneer in Coal Mining, Irrigation and Colonization—Resident of Victoria

Word was received in Victoria yesterday that Elliott T. Galt, son of the late Sir Alexander T. Galt, founder of Lethbridge, died in New York yesterday morning. The late E. T. Galt was president of the A.R. & I. Company, which founded and operated the Galt Collieries here until purchased by the C.P.R. in 1911.

Mr. E. T. Galt was one of the chief makers of early Western Canada. The Galt Company was the first in Alberta to undertake coal mining on a large scale, and the first to undertake an extensive irrigation project; at the time the largest in North America. It was the builder and operator of the railway from the C.P.R. main line near Medicine Hat to Lethbridge, Cardston and the Montana boundary. This, when sold to the C.P.R., formed the prairie section of the line to the Crow's Nest Pass mines and the Kootenay. Later on the C.P.R. also acquired the coal mines and irrigation plant and lands. Mr. C. A. Magrath, associated with the Galt Company, married a sister of Mr. E. T. Galt. He is now a member of the International Commission.

Some four or five years ago Mr. Galt purchased the G. G. Bushby property on St. Charles Street and came to Victoria to reside, with two sisters. While in this city he lived in retirement, taking no part in any active business affairs.

Subscriptions Halted

PARIS, May 15.—Premier Poincare called a halt on cash subscriptions to the new five per cent loan today after 10,000,000 francs ($400,000) had been subscribed in new money. As the object of the loan is to refund short term bonds rather than to borrow cash, the premier found the money flowing in too freely.

Much British Capital Available for Canada

VANCOUVER, May 15.—The amount of capital in Great Britain available for investment in Canada at the present time is staggering, said J. C. Dallas, prominent oil operator, of Calgary, who arrived in Vancouver over Canadian Pacific lines on Tuesday evening. The Dominion as the ultimate goal of millions now awaiting investment abroad was visualized by Mr. Dallas, his statements being based on a recent visit to the Old Country, during which he interested Lord Askwith, K.C.B., one of the leading British financiers of the present day, in the Turner Valley oil field, south of Calgary. Lord Askwith, now president of Calmont Oil Company, in which considerable Vancouver capital is interested, will pay a visit to the field early in the coming Summer.

RUBBER PRICES NOT INCREASED

Manufacturers Put in Evidence to Show That Tariff Has Not Hurt Consumer

OTTAWA, May 15.—In support of their contention that the rubber manufacturers of Canada have not used the tariff protection they enjoy to enhance the price of their goods, the association of Canadian rubber firms submitted briefs to the Tariff Advisory Board today at the request of the board.

The manufacturers put in exhibits of various types of rubber footwear to prove that, when quality was considered, rubber footwear was as cheap in Canada as in the United States.

DRUG TRADER ALLEGED TO BE RELEASED

him to "lay off; we are letting up on these joints now."

FOREWARNED

Duggan also told of going to the police station one night to report big games in two gambling places on Pender Street. He found a raiding party of detectives about to leave the station, and he accompanied them to Chinatown. When the squad arrived where, half an hour previously, Duggan had seen the games in progress, one place was empty and dark; in the other, about ten men were taken.

On another occasion he had seen numbers of Chinese leaving different Chinatown places. Fearing a tong war, he had made inquiries, and was informed that everything was all right—that a raid was going to be made. A few minutes later a raiding party arrived, but all the places were empty.

Duggan named twenty-nine gambling houses in Chinatown for Chinese exclusively.

Constable H. H. Duggan declared he had been on the force since January 24, 1921. He had formerly been on the London Metropolitan Police. Following his evidence relating to Chinese offering him $20 to "lay off" closing his joint and the instructions he had later received from McLaughlin to "lay off that place, Duggan, we are letting up on these joints now," Duggan said Sgt. Parsons had said to him, "'Well, you can't beat the system, Duggan,' and I replied 'No.' After that I didn't interfere with the place, and for the next three weeks of my tour of duty there the place was running wide open without being molested."

NARCOTIC CASE

Referring to a particular arrest on August 17, 1926, Duggan stated he saw a Chinaman, known to him then as Wing Ching, distributing drugs, or about to distribute them, in Chinatown. Duggan said he got pretty close to the Chinese before he was seen, but the suspect then fled up Pender Street, taking refuge on the stairs at 176½ Pender East. On him was was found what he believed were narcotics. The accused was taken to the station and was charged with distributing and having drugs in his possession. His partner in the arrest, Sgt. Parsons, said Duggan, later brought the analysis report on the material to him in the courtroom, stating, "'The stuff does not analyze.' I nearly had a heart attack," said witness. "We had to withdraw the charge. Never before," he continued, "had a Chinaman run away from him and submitted himself to a drug charge because he was carrying face powder."

Detective Charles McDonald, a member of the morality squad since 1926, was the next witness. He detailed how he had, with Detective Foran, been told to watch a suite in a certain West End apartment house suspected of being a disorderly house. The two detectives went there one night and, after a woman entered the suite, Foran went in and overheard the woman ordering drugs sent up. Shortly afterwards a Chinaman arrived and when the detectives searched him they found three packages of morphine. The man was arrested and a charge of having drugs in his possession laid against him.

"The charge came up in police court as we laid it and was remanded for a week," continued McDonald. "Then we went on our holidays. When we returned on July 28, we found the case was called for the next morning. We were in the detective office and about 8 o'clock Sgt. George McLaughlin came in, and while we were talking about it the telephone rang for McLaughlin. McLaughlin talked to the party at the other end and we heard him say: 'Well, wait a minute; they're here now; I'll ask them.'

RELEASED ON SMALL FINE

"Then McLaughlin turned to us and said Jackson wanted to know if we had any objection to the charge against the Chinaman being reduced from drugs in possession to a lesser charge. Foran told McLaughlin that we had all the evidence in the world required to convict. McLaughlin said: 'Well, it's Jackson that wants it reduced. It's nothing to me.' So I said that Jackson was the boss and he could do as he liked about it.

"The next night," continued McDonald, "we looked at the police court records and saw that Chang Wing Ching had been convicted on the reduced charge and fined $50."

Detective Charles McDonald was recalled to the stand this afternoon and was examined by G. G. McGeer, counsel for Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher. The examination had to do with raids and methods of dealing with disorderly houses.

G. H. Cowan, counsel for Chief of Police Long, proceeded to cross-examine witness. He referred to evidence of McDonald in connection with the arrest of a Chinese in the Merrill Rooms on a narcotic charge. The charge was not proceeded with? he asked. McDonald replied it was not.

CHIEF NOT REFERRED TO

In reply to further questions, McDonald said he had not spoken to the Chief about it; the Chief had not stopped the prosecution. The witness did not know of any case where the Chief interfered to reduce a charge or interfered with a raid. He had no suggestion that the Chief had ever failed in his duty.

"I have always found the Chief a perfect gentleman," he added. The same applied to McLaughlin, said McDonald, in reply to R. L. Maitland, counsel for that officer. McLaughlin never interfered with him.

Before leaving the stand, McDonald said the Merrill Mansions referred to by him was not a place catering to "these people."

and deplored the absence of British Columbia Institutes from the last federated meeting at Wolfville, N.S. She mentioned that eleven Institutes had made use of the government publications on agriculture. Mrs. J. D. Reports were received during the afternoon from the Institutes at Strawberry Vale, Cedar and Royal Oak.

The Hon. Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald, of the Court of Appeal, had taken as his subject "Democracy," and he gave an eloquent statement of his plea for introducing into the educational curriculum of the country instruction in political administration. The address was delivered at the evening session.

The speaker quoted from the lessons of Greece and Rome, which he termed the political ancestors of our political system. The best brains of the nation must be harnessed to its needs, and democracy did that in war-time, as was illustrated in the Great War. Sometimes, however, it did not exercise that judgment in time of peace, and instead accorded to mediocrity ill fitted power. An ill informed vote was often unprogressive. It had come about in Europe that the Great War had nearly destroyed democracy. Had there been universal franchise in the nineteenth century, the British North America Act would not have passed, and there would have been no Jubilee celebration of Confederation as they had observed last year. Democracy, curiously, feared itself, and constantly erected barriers against possible evils, practically against its own aberrations. Had the modern woman been eligible for the Senate she would have found herself sharing in a non-democratic body. Political administrative education was not an avenue to socialism, but the training of man in pure science, to direct national affairs, promote true domestic policies within, and foreign policies without.

British Immigrants

MONTREAL, May 15.—"One reason, and perhaps the chief one, why Canada is not getting more British immigrants at present is that under existing arrangements the organizations that are interested in bringing people to this country are permitted to invite only agriculturists and domestic servants, and the supply of these is limited," said E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in replying to a series of questions placed before him recently on the immigration question in Canada. Mr. Beatty's reply was made public here today.

Immigration Minister Quoted as Saying That Permits Sold for $100

Witness Before Immigration Committee at Ottawa Says Mr. Forke Mentioned Former Solicitor-General as Trafficking in Permits

OTTAWA, May 15. — Alderman Coldwell, of Regina, before the special House committee investigating immigration, named Hon. E. J. McMurray, former solicitor-general, as having been engaged in obtaining immigration permits. Alderman Coldwell declared he had received the information from Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, during a conversation they had in Mr. Forke's office in March last year. There was also mentioned a former member from the Maritimes, but Mr. Coldwell could not remember the name.

Alderman Coldwell was pressed to give exactly the words used by Mr. Forke.

"Mr. Forke told me quite definitely," Mr. Coldwell said, "that Mr. McMurray had obtained these permits in large numbers, that he had obtained sufficient to pay his election expenses, and Mr. Forke said: 'You know election expenses are large in a city like Winnipeg.'"

Mr. Coldwell again was pressed a few minutes later to repeat Mr. Forke's words. "Mr. Forke told me," Mr. Coldwell said, "that Mr. McMurray had obtained a large number of these permits which had been used in the manner suggested. Mr. Forke suggested they had been sold and that election expenses had been met in that way, and that election expenses in the city of Winnipeg are high. That is as nearly as I can remember the effect of Mr. Forke's words."

DEFEATED CANDIDATE

In the conversation Mr. Forke explained that he had done his best to stop the misuse of special immigration permits. Mr. Forke gave an incident of a defeated member having come to him to ask him to sign a large number of permits. Alderman Coldwell said that Mr. Forke had told him his Scotch ire had been aroused at the request. Alderman Coldwell further said that Mr. Forke stated he had asked the defeated candidate what these permits were worth to him. The defeated candidate had replied to Mr. Forke, according to Alderman Coldwell's version of the conversation that they were worth $100, "to aid election expenses."

Mr. Forke may have mentioned the name of the defeated candidate, but Alderman Coldwell had no recollection of the name.

Alderman Coldwell referred to another case, but before he had proceeded, C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, immediately asked for the name of the party involved.

Witness asked for the same protection as was accorded to members speaking on the floor of Parliament. A heated argument followed among members of the committee as to whether any such privilege should be accorded to Alderman Coldwell. Chairman F. W. Kay, Liberal, Brome, ruled that the committee could not give any "special privilege." Mr. Kay further ruled that the witness was compelled to answer any question put by the committee as a whole.

"The only objection I have to answering that question is that Mr. Forke says he was only giving me current gossip and suspicions," said Alderman Coldwell.

Chairman Kay ruled that the question must be answered, and his ruling was sustained by the committee.

"The name mentioned was that of Mr. McMurray, of Winnipeg," Alderman Coldwell answered to the question following the ruling.

Pressed further, witness stated that Mr. Forke had "clearly intimated" that $100 was the fee at which permits were usually sold. Mr. Forke, according to witness, had added: "If I wish I could become a millionaire in this department."

Mr. Cahan asked if Mr. Forke had said that any member of Parliament or defeated candidate was receiving a fee of $100 each for obtaining permits.

"Mr. Forke certainly indicated to me that Mr. McMurray did receive that amount," replied Coldwell.

"Was he formerly solicitor-general?" asked Mr. Cahan.

"Yes, he was," replied witness.

"Was your understanding from Mr. Forke that trafficking in permits was general and that among those trafficking was the two to which you referred?" asked Mr. Edwards.

"Yes," stated witness.

MR. McMURRAY DENIES

WINNIPEG, May 15.—Hon. E. J. McMurray, former solicitor-general of Canada, characterized as "utterly false" the statement made before the investigation committee in Ottawa, that he had ever been engaged in obtaining immigration permits.

"I don't believe that Hon. Robert Forke ever made any such statement," he said. "I was scrupulous to keep this class of work out of my law office. I never received a single penny in connection with immigration work. If this witness or any other person will repeat such statements where he has no protection, I will seek redress in the proper way."

BIRDS AND FOLKS ARE MUCH ALIKE

Analogy Traced by Mr. J. W. Winson for Members of Women's Canadian Club

In order to help combat the tremendous destruction done yearly by insects in Canada and the United States, Mr. J. Winson, in his address to the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, urged the members to do all in their power to assist with the problem of bird conservation in this country. Birds, Mr. Winson explained, were of the utmost use in destroying pests of all kinds, which if allowed to increase, would cause destruction amounting to a loss of many millions of dollars annually.

Mr. Winson, known to many by the pseudonym "Wildwood," is a keen and very able ornithologist, and his address yesterday, which dealt with many unusual phases of bird lore and life, was listened to with great eagerness by the large audience. The speaker pointed out the many similiarities between bird nature and human nature, and of some of the almost "human" traits noticeable in the members of the feathered kingdom. Not only did the female of the species have specific duties to perform in the rearing of the family, but the male proved to be an important factor in the bird family. As an illustration of this, Mr. Winson told of the ingenious method by which the male grouse in the arid wastes of the Southern States brought water to the fledglings.

BATHE FOR PLEASURE

"Birds," said Mr. Winson, "are the only creatures, beside humans, who bathe for pleasure. The heart of a tiny chickadee makes from 300 to 600 beats in a minute, and its body maintains a temperature of 105 degrees. A cool bath on a hot Summer day is something which a bird may enjoy." The lecturer went on to explain that birds are the only creatures, other than human beings, who "use cosmetics." The fine dusting powder between the feathers of some water birds, the oil glands of many bush birds and the fine comb between the claws of others proved this fact.

"The only bird that sings while it sits on its nest," Mr. Winson said, with regard to other characteristics, "is the grosbeak."

The migration of birds was something which the most learned ornithologists find difficult to explain, it was stated by Mr. Winson, who spoke of the long flight made by the tern from the Par North to the Antarctic regions, and of the interest aroused in the recent appearance of a flock of lapwings from Northern Ireland which landed in Nova Scotia. Leg bands showed that the flight had been made in a remarkably short time, and the reason for the long flight remains a mystery.

HOUSEKEEPING

Some of the problems of "housekeeping" were told in an amusing manner by Mr. Winson, who stated that it has been estimated a young robin devours as many as eighty worms per day, and that a pair of robins will make as many as six hundred visits to a nest of fledglings during the day.

"Birds might be called property-owners, or leasers," continued the speaker, who explained that one of the chief reasons for birds singing during the nesting time was to proclaim that the particular territory surrounding their nests "was not to be interfered with."

One of the most interesting features of bird life was the practice of deliberate deceit by pheasants and many varieties of water fowl.

Mrs. Peter McNaughton expressed the thanks of the club to Mr. Winson at the conclusion of his talk. During the afternoon Miss Betty Savannah delighted the audience with two vocal solos.

AT ALMOST 70 WINS $1,000 PHYSICAL CULTURE FIRST PRIZE

Can youth alone be physically perfect? No, physical perfection can be attained at any age. Dr. Jackson, a dying old man at fifty, learned how to live properly and at sixty-five captured the $1,000 Physical Culture first prize from all comers. He tells how in his 428 page book, "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL." It was largely due to living entirely upon Roman Meal for two whole years.

Roman Meal is alkali-forming, and thus it keeps our blood alkaline, as it must be if we are to be well. Civilization's foods are acid-forming. Roman Meal corrects the acids formed in our blood and keeps us well.

Dr. Jackson was dying from "acidosis" at fifty. Roman Meal normalized his acid blood and will do so for you. Write for his new uncooked Roman Meal recipe and a copy of his free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to Dr. Robert G. Jackson, 315 Vine Ave., Toronto (9), Ont. (Advt.)

RURAL LIFE IS BENEFITED

Mrs. Frank Campbell Gives Presidential Address to Islands District Women's Institute Conference

PROGRESS RAPID DURING LAST YEAR

"We are all, as a group of women, bound together by these gracious chains of friendship, sympathy and interest in a common cause, that of making rural life more permanent and prosperous; of making the isolated farm woman feel that she is one of a great sisterhood that is now reaching all over the British Empire—the group known as Women's Institutes, which I have been proud to serve as president of the Islands district," said Mrs. Frank Campbell, president, in her address to the Islands District Women's Institute Conference at Duncan yesterday.

She said that the first undertaking of the year was the Potato Fair—the profits to go to the Solarium. The Institutes brought in supplies of various sorts and sent representatives to cook and serve, and the undertaking was admirably carried out in spite of many difficulties. It promoted also friendship and goodwill among the ladies who kindly gave their time and strength to help the helpless little children, and was an undoubted success.

The garden party at Government House resulted in a comfortable little sum for the depleted treasury, intended to help the isolated Institutes.

HICKMAN FILM

"The Hickman film resolution was taken up and sent over the whole Province," reported Mrs. Campbell. "It was an international film doing neither more nor less than glorifying murder and that morbid sensationalism so harmful to all and especially to young people. Two large provincial organizations were given the opportunity of taking the matter up, but failed to realize its importance. But the district Board on being approached by the superintendent, saw the necessity and importance of urging on all good citizens the prevention of this deplorable film being shown in Canada. The work was done by your district board thoroughly, and I am glad to say, successfully, for the Attorney-General at once, on receipt of letters from the women of British Columbia, placed this film on the forbidden list. And the torches of the Alberta women were lit from ours, for they have written in the kindliest terms to say so.

RUG DEMONSTRATION

"A rug demonstration in the Chamber of Commerce, organized by that body, the superintendent of Institutes and the district board, was presided over by the district convener of home economics, Mrs. J. L. Brown, and was an unqualified success. Braided and hooked rugs were shown, as well as the work of the adjustable needle and the now famous Institute Chinook rugs, the beautiful Indian patterns of which have become so popular. Over five hundred people attended this demonstration.

"Just a few weeks ago, as president of the district, I, co-operated with the superintendent, Mrs. MacLachlan, and the provincial president, Mrs. Gordon, in an exhibition of quilts, rugs, lace and other industries in a booth at the recent Home Products Fair held in the Armories. Lace from Denman Island of a most beautiful quality and appearance excited much attention, as also did the wonderful quality quilts shown, both old and new. Some of the quilts shown were afterwards sent on to Vancouver, where they were awarded a prize."

PROVES ATTRACTIVE

Demonstrations of quilting, rag braiding, glove making and rug weaving, and a wool comforter was made from start to finish by Lake Hill and South Saanich Institutes. This booth had been the centre of attraction; every one of the 12,000 visitors to the fair had visited this booth, examined the exhibits, and asked questions. Among the visitors had been the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie, Lord and Lady Willingdon and suite.

The president reaffirmed her interest in the small and isolated Institutes. She had visited not only all Institutes near at hand, but many of the more remote among the Gulf Islands and elsewhere. "I may safely claim to have visited more Institutes than any of my predecessors and have found a most gracious welcome," she reported. To ascertain the problems and needs of each Institute required more personal acquaintance than could be achieved by correspondence only. When any sick Institute members came to hospital in town, they were visited by herself and other board members. The board were not unmindful in giving sympathy as well as practical help in readjustment of living arrangements.

Appreciation of Mrs. Gordon's kindness in consenting to act as secretary-treasurer to the board when Miss Dashwood resigned, was voiced. Mrs. Gordon had been the greatest help. It had been a pleasure to work with the members of the board, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Nimmo. Thanks were expressed to Mr. Bonavia, of the Department of Agriculture, and to Dr. Young, secretary of the provincial board of health, for their ready assistance and sound advice.

FAVORS MAKING YEARLY GRANT

SPECIAL COMMITTEE MAKES RECOMMENDATION IN REPORT

Greatly Impressed With Efficiency of Service Bureau of Canadian Legion

The district council of the Canadian Legion met last night in the clubrooms of Pro Patria Branch, under the chairmanship of Comrade J. J. Blair, when representatives from all parts of the Island south of Nanaimo were present.

The Legion's part in the work of assisting ex-service men and women, as recognized by the Special Parliamentary Committee, was referred to by the chairman, who quoted the following excerpt from the committee's report:

"Your committee was greatly impressed by the Service Bureau, an organization instituted by the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League at Ottawa for the purpose of preparing for submission to the Board of Pension Commissioners, the Federal Appeal Board and the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, the claims arising out of legislation on behalf of ex-soldiers. This bureau has, since its inception, handled thousands of cases and has been of inestimable value, not only to members of the Legion, but to all ex-soldiers and their dependents. We feel that it should be given some direct governmental assistance.

"The committee recommends that the estimates to be submitted to Parliament should provide for a yearly grant to the Dominion Executive Council of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, the expenditure of this grant to be subject to such supervision and audit as the Governor-in-Council may deem necessary, the amount not to exceed $10,000 per annum and to be contributed on the basis of one dollar for every dollar expendid by the Legion directly for the purposes of the bureau."

The approval and high commendation of the work of the Legion expressed by the parliamentary committee, after an exhaustive inquiry into ex-service matters, was much appreciated by the meeting, and it was decided to give the fact the fullest publicity in order that ex-service men and the general public may learn of the value of the work being done by the organization which is the Canadian branch of the British Empire Service League—the Empire-wide body which was brought into existence by the late Earl Haig, and which occupied the greater part of his last years. It was felt that the crowning seal of approval which the words of the parliamentary committee confer should be an inducement to all ex-service men to become members and do their bit towards the regulation of Earl Haig's ideal of an organization embracing all ex-service men and women in every part of the Empire.

WILL CLOSE FUND

It was decided to close the Dr. Wace Solarium Fund on June 1, and to request all ex-service men and organizations that wish to subscribe to send remittances to the secretary of any branch of the Canadian Legion in the district.

The zone which included the whole of the Island south of Nanaimo, was divided into two zones at last night's meeting in accordance with provision for increased representation on the provincial council which was made at the Kamloops convention. Comrade J. D. Groves, of Cowichan branch, will have charge of Cowichan district and the Islands, and Comrade W. G. Stone, of Britannia branch, will represent Victoria and district, Langford, Sooke and North Saanich. The two zones will combine for district meetings, as it was agreed that the value of personal contact between the city and country districts should be preserved; and, as Comrade Groves said: "We are too fond of one another to agree to part."

It was decided to arrange for zone councils to meet at different clubrooms of branches within the zones and go into general meeting with the branch whose quarters are being used; after the conclusion of zone business. By this means it is anticipated that greater interest in matters outside of individual branches will result.

Secretary H. P. Thorpe was instructed to write the Dominion secretary requesting him to ask the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment to create the necessary machinery to carry on without delay the work of any soldier-advocate whose service might terminate suddenly by reason of accident, death or other cause. This action is calculated to insure continuity of service without the delay which would ensue and which would impose unnecessary hardship on men whose cases were awaiting final action.

A committee was appointed to interview Comrade Sedger, soldier-advocate for Vancouver Island, to find out if the volume of work which he has to deal with would justify a petition to Ottawa for the appointment of an assistant.

The vexed question of whether or not ex-service men should be placed in rear of parades in which permanent and non-permanent militia units participate came up for discussion, and the Dominion secretary will be asked to apply to the Department of National Defence for a ruling.

INTEREST IS RETROACTIVE

The meeting was informed that where a reduction in the purchase of Soldier Settlement Board land has been granted, interested on the adjusted price is retroactive to October, 1925. A resolution will be forwarded to the Dominion convention asking that interest on the amount in excess of the adjusted price be rebated from the date of purchase.

The Cowichan zone issued a challenge to Victoria zone to meet on the cricket field at Duncan and give an exhibition of sportsmanship and good fellowship on a par with those qualities shown at district council meetings. The challenge was accepted with alacrity.

The following delegates were present: Cowichan, W. H. Purver, A. J. Castle, M. A. Kinch, J. D. Groves; North Saanich, T. M. Hughes, T. G. Corey-Wood, A. Calvert; Sooke, E. H. Hewer, S. E. Stacey; Britannia Branch, J. J. Blair, F. D. Hickman; T. V. Section, P. A. Stock, R. W. Cornall; Naval Veterans, G. S. Chappell, H. Smith; Pro Patria Branch, H. P. Thorpe, H. W. Hart, W. G. Stone.

CREDIT METHODS ARE EXPLAINED

Automotive Men Hear Officers of Dominion Creditors' Association Speak on Subject

TEMPORARY BODY IS ESTABLISHED

A meeting of men engaged in the automotive business in the city was addressed last evening by Mr. H. Edward Bridge, vice-president of the Dominion Creditors' Association, Ltd., on the subject of credit methods and their application in a local way. Mr. P. M. O'Connor, field manager of the same organization, spoke on the general subject of credit.

Speaking of the actual object of the work in hand, it was explained that it was for the standardization of the credit system, working for the benefit of the dealers. The necessity of action being taken along this line was pressed home very forcibly by Mr. Bridge, who showed that under the system that had been worked out there was ample protection for the dealers in the automotive trade, without working to the disadvantage of the public.

The methods of rating were all described to the meeting, and after it had been thrown open so as to constitute a sort of round table conference, questions were answered by the speaker to clear up any misconceptions that might exist.

The result of the meeting was that an organization was effected along the lines indicated. The character of the organization is Dominion-wide. Mr. L. Acton, credit manager of Angus Campbell & Co., will be local manager for the association, while Mr. Nugent Spinks will be solicitor for the association.

In the meantime it is the intention to carry on the organization to completion, aiming at making it one hundred per cent strong in the city. Following this course, a meeting will be held on June 5, when the organization will be completed.

At the next meeting the local board of directors will be elected, with the remaining officers that are required to carry along the work.

The object of the organization is to eliminate the losses that occur from time to time by nonpayers of accounts, which has the effect of not only seriously injuring the dealer, but also work an injustice upon the section of the community that pays its bills.

JORDAN RIVER WRECK SCENE

VANCOUVER POWER BOAT GARDNER M. DRIFTS ON ROCKS

Dominion Government Steamship Malaspina Stands By—Will Try to Refloat Vessel

The sixty-foot powerboat, Gardner M., of the Imperial Trading Company, Vancouver, went on the rocks at Jordan River at noon yesterday, with one man aboard.

With the Dominion Government steamer Malaspina standing by to make an attempt to pull the stranded craft into deep water again on a favorable tide, the Gardner M. is considered to be in no danger. The Malaspina has a line aboard the vessel, according to word received from Jordan River last night.

The Gardner M. ran into a small bay near the mouth of the river to seek shelter from a stiff wind and heavy seas in the Strait. Her anchor dragged and she was piled up on the rock. Her captain attracted the attention of a passing resident of Jordan River. The latter sent a telegram to the Government wireless station at Pachena Point, and from there word of the plight of the small boat was wirelessed to the Malaspina, which happened to be steaming in the vicinity. The Malaspina arrived at the scene of the accident twenty minutes later.

The Gardner M. was making her first voyage up the West Coast. She is laden with four tons of gasoline.

It was thought likely that the Malaspina would refloat the vessel some time during the night. Early last night the wind was reported to have dropped and the seas to have calmed down at the scene of the wreck.

MONTREAL STRIKE

MONTREAL, May 15. — While leaders of 400 striking structural steel workers in Montreal reiterated their intention of awaiting recognition of their union by the Dominion Bridge Company before resuming work, officials of the company declared today that they had no statement to make beyond the fact that all their work was proceeding and that they had sufficient labor. The strike was called last Friday.

ABSENTEE VOTE COUNTING

The absentee vote scandal in North Vancouver bids fair to be an issue in the coming election campaign, even if, as an issue, it is confined to that constituency. The Liberals have nominated the sitting member as their candidate again, but the North Vancouver Liberal Association has refused to have anything to do with this nomination. The ground it takes for its objection is the absentee vote scandal, or, in other words, the fact that the sitting member was credited in the last election with 188 out of 255 absentee ballots, whereas of those who voted in the "absentee" fashion over 175 have made affidavits, or declarations, that they did not vote for the sitting member. The attitude of the Liberal Association has been explained to Dr. J. D. MacLean, the Premier, but the latter apparently does not see any validity to the objection to the nomination of the sitting member. As a matter of fact Mr. J. M. Bryan, M.P.P., has been nominated again as a Liberal candidate in opposition to the desires of the executive members of the Liberal Association of North Vancouver, who hold that his chances of re-election are diminished because of the absentee vote scandal.

At the last provincial election the Liberals throughout British Columbia polled somewhere in the neighborhood of 33 per cent of the vote cast. In the great majority of constituencies and ridings there were three or more candidates in the field. The Government was sustained in power by a minority vote of the people; the vote against the Liberals was approximately two to one. While this was the evidence of public opinion it is a strange commentary that the absentee ballot boxes should have been found, when the votes were counted, to give the Liberal candidates majorities, so far as absentee voters were concerned, in practically every case. In North Vancouver an investigation was made and it was found that whereas the Liberal candidate was officially credited with 74 per cent of the absentee vote, nearly 70 per cent of the absentee voters declared that they did not vote for Mr. Bryan. In the meantime the "absentee" ballots in the North Vancouver election were destroyed, an incident which added to the suspicion that had been aroused.

It is that suspicion which the Liberal Association of North Vancouver believes will militate against the success of the Liberals in the next election. The Liberals have insisted, at the instance of the Government, on the retention of the absentee ballot. It is true that some safeguards affecting it will be in operation at the next election, and since the Government has sanctioned those safeguards, for what they may be worth, it is tantamount to an admission that absentee voting, or perhaps it would be more correct to say the counting of the ballots, left something to be desired. What happened in North Vancouver may have been duplicated throughout the province, which would account for the strong majorities which the absentee ballot boxes gave to the Liberal candidates.

CANADA'S NAVAL PROBLEM

Canda does not rely upon herself for naval protection in time of danger. This is quite clear from a Canadian Press dispatch from London just published, in which are mentioned the official figures of the sums spent by the various Dominions within the Empire for naval defence. According to these figures, the per capita expenditure of the people of Britain is $6.12; that of Australia, $4.32; that of New Zealand, $2.24; South Africa 36 cents and Canada 19 cents. Canada's navy therefore would be practically useless against any assailant with pretensions even to small sea power. She must depend for protection upon some outside source.

M. Henri Bourassa recently stated that Canada's protective power is none other than the Monroe doctrine—which is only another way of stating that Canada, in time of peril, would have to look to the United States for protection. It might be urged that in the case of M. Bourassa the wish to be shepherded by the United States is father to the thought. We think, however, that the vast majority of Canadians would deny that indignantly. It it were true, Canada would be cutting a very poor figure before the world, "claiming and receiving protection," as The Hamilton Herald says, "from a foreign power without paying anything for it." Everybody knows that Canada depends for naval defence upon the British Navy.

That position is not so humiliating as dependence upon a foreign power; but it is humiliating enough. It was only the other day that the Government at Ottawa explained how Canada, now an autonomous nation, has the right to decline to take part in a war in which Britain is engaged, and had used its national privilege in declining to become a party to the Locarno treaties. Is that not another way of saying that Canada claims the right to refuse to go to the help of Britain when Britain needs help? What is sauce for the goose in that respect is surely sauce for the gander. Has not, therefore, Britain the same right? Would not she be perfectly justified under present conditions, to refuse to aid Canada if and when Canada got into trouble? Would it not be a very one-sided arrangement if this nation of ours could claim the help of Britain but were to deny any obligation on her own part to reciprocate?

Of the British Dominions Canada has the largest ocean-borne commerce to protect, and, excepting Australia, the longest coast line. Its total outlay for naval defence is $1,755,000 as compared with Australia's $27,876,000, little New Zealand's $3,243,000, and Britain's $281,850,000. If we are a real nation, as we claim to be, why not fulfil one of the first claims to nationhood and provide adequately for our own defence?

"SPENDTHRIFT ZEAL"

Mrs. M. E. Smith, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt, in opening her election campaign says that there is much more to be done in the way of social and domestic legislation in British Columbia but it can only be done as more money is forthcoming. Unquestionably, excessive taxation is the price of paternalism. Mrs. Smith prides herself on the fact that this province "has exceeded any other part of the world in social and domestic legislation," which undoubtedly approximates to the truth since British Columbia spends half the revenue it extracts from the people on schools, hospitals, asylums, pensions and other ventures which come under the head of social legislation. Mrs. Smith is heartily in favor of the State doing all these things, for she never advocates that, at least to some extent, the doctrine of self help might be inculcated in our people if only for the sake of making them more self-reliant.

The task our Provincial Government appears to find the easiest amid the multiplicity of its duties, is that of spending the taxpayers' moneys. It has pursued conclusions infinite in this particular. Mrs. Smith, the Liberal candidate for Esquimalt, has been an active proponent of expenditures, and now she intimates that her policy in the future will be the advocacy of greater expenditures as soon as provincial revenues can be increased. In other words, Mrs. Smith is a staunch henchwoman of that orgy of spendthrift zeal which has made per capita taxation in British Columbia greater than that of any other province of the Dominion.

One of the French-Canadian newspapers puts forward the following figures: Population of Canada in 1921, 8,788,483; population of Canada in 1927 (Government figures),. 9,519,000; increase, 730,517; immigration, during the same period, 787,408; natural increase, 800,000. Thus, through natural increase and by means of immigration Canada had an accretion to population in six years of 1,587,408, whereas the actual increase was but 750,517, although during the period under review Canada spent some $20,000,000 on promoting immigration.

The proposal that the League of Nations should hold its next Assembly in Canada is a pious hope, nothing more. That organization is wholly unlikely to become a peripatetic body. Where its Secretariat is, there its Assembly meetings will be held. The roots of the League have struck deeply at Geneva.

The Good Old Days

Mrs. Scurlock Announces to Her Mother Her Engagement to Richard Steele, 1707

I can't recommend ye person to you as having a great Estate, Title, etc. which are generally a parents Chief Care, but he has a competency in worldly goods to make Easie, with a mind so richly adorned as to Exceed an equivalent to ye greatest Estate in ye World in my opinion, in short his person is what I like, his temper is what I am sure will make you as well as myself perfectly happy, if ye respect of a Lover with ye tender fondness of a dutyfull Son can make you so, and for his understanding and Morals I refer you to his Christian Hero which I remember you seem'd to approve: by this I believe you know his name, but lest memory mayn't befriend yu, 'tis ye survivour of ye person to whose funerale I went in my illness.

OMEGA

Your eyes are strained and weary, little one,
Beyond horizon-rims, you cannot see:
Mine is the sight encompassing the sun,
And Mine the vision of eternity—
Come unto Me!

Your feet have faltered in the bitter race,
And you lie broken by life's agony:
Mine is the strength that swings the stars in space,
That lifted up the Cross, that stilled the sea—
Come unto me!

Your heart, O child, is swept with mounting fires,
Tortured with dreams, with fears that none may free:
Mine is the Heart that shelters all desires—
Behold Love's Door flung wide on Calvary!
Come unto me!

—Eleanor Downing, in The Catholic World, New York.

Errors to be dangerous must have a great deal of truth mingled with them. It is only from this alliance that they can ever obtain an extensive circulation. From pure extravagance, and genuine unmingled falsehood, the world never has, and never can sustain any mischief.—Sydney Smith.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Babes and sucklings are all very well in their place. This world would be a dull and dreary wilderness without them. But the proper place for babes and sucklings is not on the public platform. We have always thought that young people should be taught to think, or allowed opportunities to develop their faculties for thinking, before they are thrust upon a public platform to weary their neighbors by glib repetition of cribbed social, political or philosophical platitudes.

Therefore we are pleased to note that an eminent authority does not approve of student oratorical contests. This eminent authority does not disapprove of the so-called oratorical contests because the orators as a rule are a weariness to the flesh and depressing to the spirit of the unfortunates who are beguiled into listening to their orations. He thinks oratorical contests should be discountenanced because they waste the time of the students and retard real educational progress. We deprecate the oratory of the babes and sucklings because there are already too many glib-tongued talkers in the world—or at least in this part of the world—and if the production be stimulated there is danger that in process of time we shall all be drowned in a deluge of what by courtesy may be called oratory.

There is a sufficient number of talkers in the world already. The world would be vastly better off if most of the gifted speakers were gagged and taught to do useful and productive work with their hands. But we believe there are a number of oratorical schools in the United States which conduct their business on similar principles to the innumerable institutions which undertake to teach by mail anything one may desire to be taught. Graduates of those schools, when crowds do not flock to listen to them at home, cross the border into Canada and proceed to instruct Canadians upon any subject, generally upon sociological or religious subjects.

Our old friend "Diogenes," of The Vancouver Province, thinks something should be done to check the inflow of the orators and the outflow of oratory. But the matter is a very delicate one, for there is a sort of unwritten law of reciprocity governing the situation. The tide of orators and oratory does not flow all one way. If the United States supplies Canada with many orators of the "uplifting class," Canada has supplied the United States with a considerable number of orators of a similar class, one of whom has gained world-wide reputation not only as a speaker and lecturer but as a melo-dramatist.

Besides, Canada is in dire need of population of the right kind, and there is danger that if an attempt were made to exclude people of any class the inhibition might be interpreted as applicable to people of the most desirable class. Canada also has now reached the stage at which she is proving an irresistible attraction to United States capital. In some quarters this irresistible attraction is regarded as rather dangerous to Canadian institutions, but the interest of capital in Canadian institutions is benevolent, not sinister. American capital will never become a menace to Canadian institutions. On the contrary, American capital will be a bulwark to Canadian institutions, because there is a principle behind our institutions which is a guarantee of stability and therefore of security. American capital is therefore being largely invested in Canadian enterprises and resources because the individuals who control the capital know that there is never likely to be a social or political upheaval in this country which will be a menace to the security of their investments.

Thinking Canadians therefore will welcome investments of American capital in the businesses and resources of their country. The larger the investments the more delighted they will be. But Canada needs population as well as capital for the fullest development of her resources. Experience justifies the assumption that the transfer of large amounts of United States capital to Canada will ultimately be followed by the immigration of large numbers of American people to Canada, and those people will be just as heartily welcomed as the capital which preceded them and attracted them.

If there is such an accumulation of capital in the United States that it cannot all be profitably employed at home, there is no reason whatever why any objection should be taken to its being profitably employed in Canada. Gold which is kept lying in vaults is like a horse which is kept standing idle in a stable—it is "eating its head off." And those who own it are just as eager to set it to work as the industrious laborer is to find remunerative employment. Canada today is the most promising field in the world for investment.

THE MILK SUPPLY

Sir,—Re the grading of dairies as reported in The Colonist recently with regard to closing all those below grade "B." It is obvious that we cannot be too careful with the city's milk supply, as the health of the public, and especially the children, largely depends upon it. If it were possible, without causing a milk famine, it would be far better to only allow milk produced by grade "A" dairies to be sold in liquid form, and all other grades converted into by-products. But even grade "A" milk, to be absolutely safe, should be Pasteurized.

Alderman Woodward says that Pasteurization is simply a means of making "dirty" milk saleable. If this is correct, then let us have all milk Pasteurized, as all milk contains "dirt," visible or invisible. Alderman Woodward evidently refers to the visible "dirt." Now, it is a well known fact that milk produced under the very best conditions contains invisible "dirt" in the form of bacteria, possibly tuberculosis, diphtheria, smallpox, etc. The proposed inspection of cows quarterly instead of annually, is a step forward. But what are four days out of 365? Therefore, is it not essential that all milk should be Pasteurized? This is accomplished at 145 degrees Fahr. over a period of thirty minutes, and destroys all harmful germs.

Mr. Dandridge states that Pasteurized milk cannot be recommended for delicate stomachs. How can this be, when the cooking or partial cooking of most foods make them more digestible?

I was surprised to learn that goats were most particular feeders. Mr. Dandridge must have his goat well trained, as the average goat will endeavor to digest anything from a copy of The Colonist to part of the weekly wash; not that this interferes with the flavor of the milk, it being naturally strong.

THE PHEASANT MENACE

Sir,—The game situation is rapidly becoming most alarming, and not only are pheasants eating up our potato supply, but I see by your issue of May 12 that a dispatch from Bucharest states: "A large body of pheasants seized three railway stations near Alba Julia, intending to proceed to Bucharest en masse." Happily their efforts were frustrated. If pheasants are taking to this sort of thing, what would black bears do if they were to band themselves together en masse? which they might do at any moment now they have had such an evil example. I sincerely hope Mr. Whitney-Griffiths is taking note of this and will keep the situation well in hand.

"ANTHROPOMETRY"

Sir,—Referring to your editorial regarding statistics of finger prints at New Scotland Yard, kindly allow me to remind you that the meaning of the word, "anthropometry," is "the measurement of the human body."

The finger print system has no connection, whatsoever, with the anthropometric system, or Bertillon system, as it is commonly called.

The finger print system and not the anthropometric system is responsible for the marked saving of time and money to which you refer.

T. HARVEY BAMFORD.

Police Department, Victoria, B.C., May 14, 1928.

(It is under the classification, "anthropometry," that the Encyclopaedia Britannica discusses the finger print system. The Bertillon system, which gave rise to the term "anthropometry," did rather more than deal with the human body. The basis of the system was on the following five measurements: (1) head length, (2) head breadth, (3) length of middle finger, (4) of left foot, (5) of cubit or forearm from the elbow to the extremity of the middle finger. These methods of identification can hardly be understood as applying directly to the human body, as Mr. Bamford says. As a matter of fact, "anthropometry" is derived from two Greek words meaning "man" and "measure," and it is well within the bounds of reason, and good practice, to include finger prints as a system of identification under the generic title of "Anthropometry."—Editor.)

Senator Dandurand To Be Commissioner For U.S. Government

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Senator Raould Dandurand has been chosen independent commissioner for the United States on the commission for the advancement of peace in case of a dispute with Brazil. The government has just filled a number of vacancies on commissions which were set up in 1905 and 1914 by the Bryan treaties, which have been concurred in by many foreign powers, including Great Britain. Under the treaties each country chooses one national and one non-national commissioner.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of May 16, 1878)

From New Westminster—The steamer Enterprise arrived here at 2 o'clock from New Westminster with the mails and following passengers: Mrs. McCullough, Mrs. Nicol, Mrs. Humber, Messrs. Needlands, Rodgraves, J. H. Todd, R. Huth, A. Evans, Tearne, R. Kerr, A. J. McLellan, C. M. Banks, W. C. Love and Captain Hicks. She also brought down from Mr. Beak's stock raising establishment on the Mainland fifty-four head of fine beef cattle for Mr. F. Reynolds.

A Close Race—The steamers Enterprise and Wilson G. Hunt, which left here on Tuesday morning, raced up to New Westminster, the former steamer reversing the general order of things and defeating the Hunt by some twenty minutes. The captain of the latter vessel claims that one of the feed pipes gave out and thus accounts for being second best in the race.

Victoria District—Dr. Tolmie is busily engaged in canvassing and will have a large majority. The absurd yarn about his disqualification is generally laughed at. Mr. Lee's chances are improving hourly, and he will probably occupy the second place on the poll on the 22nd.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP MEDAL ON DISPLAY

The entire medallion is of solid gold. The design has the emblem of the Native Sons of British Columbia, the old bastion, engraved in the centre, surrounded with a wreath of dogwood, the emblem of the Native Daughters of British Columbia, and supported with two bars, with "Appreciation Award" on the upper bar and "1928" on the lower bar.

The Appreciation Award committee wishes it understood that they cannot take into consideration any verbal nominations. Any person living in Greater Victoria is entitled to send in a nomination of a man or woman whom he believes to be worthy of receiving the Appreciation Award. Padre Williams To Be Guest of Victoria Toc H

Padre Gilbert Williams, who has been touring Canada, following up the work of Padre Harry Ellison, who started the Victoria group of Toc H last November, will arrive in Victoria on Saturday morning accompanied by Mrs. Williams. They will be the guests of the Victoria executive at lunch. "Padre Bill," as he is known in the family of Toc H, will meet the Victoria group at a special meeting at Cranleigh House School at 8 o'clock that evening. On Sunday morning he will occupy the pulpit of St. John's Church, Quadra Street. The same afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Williams will drive over the Malahat to Duncan where the padre will meet a prospective Toc H group on the same evening.

Padre Williams comes highly recommended by Padre Ellison and other Toc H authorities, and Toc H Victoria will be out full strength to the Saturday night meeting and the Sunday morning service.

Mrs. Williams, an enthusiastic Toc Emma, will likely meet with Victoria women who are interested in that branch of Toc H activity, although the local group is not yet planning to sponsor a branch of the League of Women Helpers.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

FOR YOU

A task is here no hand save yours
can do,
A task which through the ages
waited you.
Men high and low have lived and dreamed and died
While yet this need remained, unsatisfied.
No other hand could touch this harp to song,
No other brain could right this ancient wrong.
No other strength could break from this duress,
No other eye could see this loveliness.
Doubt not, but give all force, all
faith your own,
Unsought or sought, this task is yours alone!

THE MIGHTY PEN

If you are troubled with a pain,
Or errant pheasant eats your grain,
Or wand'ring bear becomes your bane
With felonious pretensions—

Excoriate the noxious beast,
Extemporise a verbal feast,
Infer your troubles have increased
Thro' inimical inventions!

It matters not what words you write,
By every sentence cause a blight.
Ascribe your anguish to the spite
Of unneighborly intentions.

Forget the subject of your woe,
Pay off old scores by stab and blow,
And let the wordy warfare grow
To irrelevant dissentions.

Thrust home your points with mordant wit,
Pull men to pieces bit by bit,
And make a caligraphic hit
Of unlimited dimensions.

CANDIDATE WELCOMED

Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, Liberal Entry in Esquimalt, Addresses Audience at Rex Theatre

PROGRESS OF B.C. REVIEWED

Two hundred and fifty residents of Esquimalt attended the meeting at the Rex Theatre last night to welcome Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, the Liberal candidate in the forthcoming general election. Supporting her on the platform were the Hon. Alex. Manson, Attorney-General, and Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture. Mr. A. T. Wade presided.

Mrs. Smith, in addressing the audience said it was with a feeling of pride that she had accepted the candidature in the Esquimalt riding. She felt as if she had once again returned to her old home, the riding which her husband had represented in the House of Commons.

She did not have to apologize for anything in coming before them, because she had rendered to the province all the service that was within her. The history of the Liberal Government and the progress of the province during the past ten years had been such that no woman or man need be ashamed.

Referring to her policy with regard to social legislation she said she had realized far more than she had asked of the Liberal Government.

READY TO FIGHT

"I propose to go through this campaign with an intention to win and will conduct myself in a ladylike way, but I want to tell you that if there is any rough stuff I will be right in the ring to put my opponents to shame."

Attorney-General Manson in his address deprecated the "stories of gloom" broadcast by Dr. Tolmie and Mr. R. H. Pooley. He said that no patriotic British Columbian or native son could justifiably create so wrong an impression of the conditions in this province without feeling ashamed of him. The Conservatives were endeavoring to obtain office by besmirching the good name of British Columbia.

"That is a high price to pay for office. It's one that I should not care to pay," Mr. Manson stated.

In order to give a nonpartisan review of the progress of the province he outlined the development of British Columbia during the past ten years as compared with the preceding ten years.

During the period 1907 to 1916, agriculture production amounted to $202,581,000. Production in the years 1917 to 1926 amounted to $592,000,000, or an increase of 192 per cent. In 1926 the production was $71,000,000. This had increased to $77,000,000 last year, according to figures made public yesterday.

"Is it fair in the face of these facts that we should hear complaints that we are not progressing?" Mr. Manson asked.

SUMAS SITUATION

What had been done to reclaim 10,000 acres of land in the Sumas district was told by the speaker. The work was illustrated by slides.

He next dealt with the lumber industry and pointed out how its production had increased by $511,460,000 in the 1917-1926 period over the 1907-1916 period.

"And yet you hear the cry that capital is afraid to invest, that British Columbia is stagnating, that we are in the doldrums. I ask you is that the case in the face of so tremendous a development in our lumbering industry?"

Mining had also shown a big increase in production. The output was $284,917,000 in the 1907-16 priod and from 1917 to 1926 it was $529,547,000, an increase of $144,630,000. Again the speaker gave this figures as an answer to the pessimists who said capital was afraid to invest.

Increases in the fishing industries, expansion of the basic industries and industrial firms were also cited as evidence against the statement that capital was afraid to invest in British Columbia. The payroll had increased from $78,000,000 in 1907-16 to $175,000,000 in 1917-26. New companies incorporated during the last ten years represented an investment of $100,000,000. These and many other statistics were mustered in answer to adverse criticism regarding the progress of the province.

PROVINCIAL DEBT

Dealing with the debt of the province, Mr. Manson pointed out the growing needs of British Columbia. The increase in the debt had only been $21,000,000 during the past ten years. The debt was $75,000,000 and there was $14,000,000 in the sinking fund against the maturing of the bonds. This sinking fund was greater than the combined sinking funds of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario, which had a combined debt of $561,000,000.

The speaker then went on to deal with the Workmen's Compensation Act, and gave credit to Mr. Bowser for its existence, but he also pointed out that the Liberal Government put it into effect and had made it more liberal in its terms than the original bill had intended.

He described what had been done with regard to mothers' pensions, eight-hour day, minimum wage, joint guardianship, legislation for unmarried mothers, and many other pieces of social legislation, and paid tribute to Mrs. Smith for the untiring efforts she had put forth in the furtherance of such legislation.

"Do you understand now why Mrs. Smith says she is not afraid to come before you and ask for your support," Mr. Manson asked.

At the close of his address those attending the meeting remained to enjoy a dance and refreshments.

OKANAGAN CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

CALGARY, Alta., May 15.—That the fruit crop prospects in the Okanagan Valley were excellent and in keeping with the general optimistic outlook throughout the West, was the statement made here by W. M. Neal, general manager of western lines of the Canadian Pacific, who was in Calgary on Tuesday on his return from a business trip to the British Columbia Interior.

Wheat seeding in Southern Alberta, he said, was now about sixty-five per cent completed, from reports he had received while coming up from the South. All farm work, he said, was proceeding at full swing.

Dr. A. F. Barton will give another popular health lecture in the New Thought Temple this evening at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "More About Chemical Types" and will be along similar lines to the lecture of a week ago.

Summer Will Bring to City Many Gatherings

Provisional List Indicates Several Conventions, Sporting Tournaments, Visits From Notable People and Shows

Conventions, holiday engagements and tournaments promise to bring a large number of people here this Summer. The tourist bureaus are also organizing large parties, and it looks as if the figures of travel, while not approximating to the record year of 1925, will be large.

The most important, from the point of view of bringing notable people here, will be the brief visit of the British Empire Parliamentary Association, which will meet in Canada this year. Judging by the calibre of politicians who came here when the party passed through to Australia, there is no doubt that it will be an important occasion, with the addition that there will also be the Indian and South African delegates, who on the former occasion went direct to Australia from their own countries and did not pass through Canada.

CITY POPULAR

The popularity of Victoria as a centre for sporting tournaments will be increasingly shown in the Summer of 1928, most of the Summer sportsmen having periods set apart for indulgence in their favored pastimes during the warm weather.

It is not such a great year for conventions on the Pacific Coast as was the case in 1925 and 1926, especially with fraternal organizations, the largest gathering this year in the Pacific Northwest being the International Kiwanis meeting, timed for Seattle in June.

In addition to the parties of excursionists from the East, mainly drawn from the teaching profession, as organized by the University of Montreal and the Laird tour, there is expected to be a party of teachers from the British Isles corresponding to similar tours of former years.

PROVISIONAL LIST

Accompanying is a provisional list to date:

FATHER AND DAUGHTER AS OPPOSING LAWYERS

Rivals in a Court Case Which the Father Wins—Judge Compliments the Daughter

CARDIFF, Wales, May 14.—Father and daughter were rival counsel in a Cardiff County Court case recently. The plaintiff in the case was represented by Miss May Williams, and the defendant by her father, Gordon Williams.

For over an hour they were engaged in argument on the Rents Act, and when referring to each other both father and daughter used the formal legal phrase, "My Learned Friend." The father won, but Judge L. C. Thomas complimented the daughter on the able manner in which she had presented her case.

"I am delighted," Gordon Williams said afterwards to a reporter. "It was my daughter's first County Court case, and she lost only because the law was against her."

Miss Williams is twenty-two years of age, and was called to the Bar recently. She is the youngest barrister in Wales.

Ascension Day services will be held at St. Paul's Garrison Church as follows: Holy Communion, 8 a.m.; Evensong and sermon, 7:30 o'clock. Preacher, Rev. O. L. Jull.

FELL FROM BUMPERS

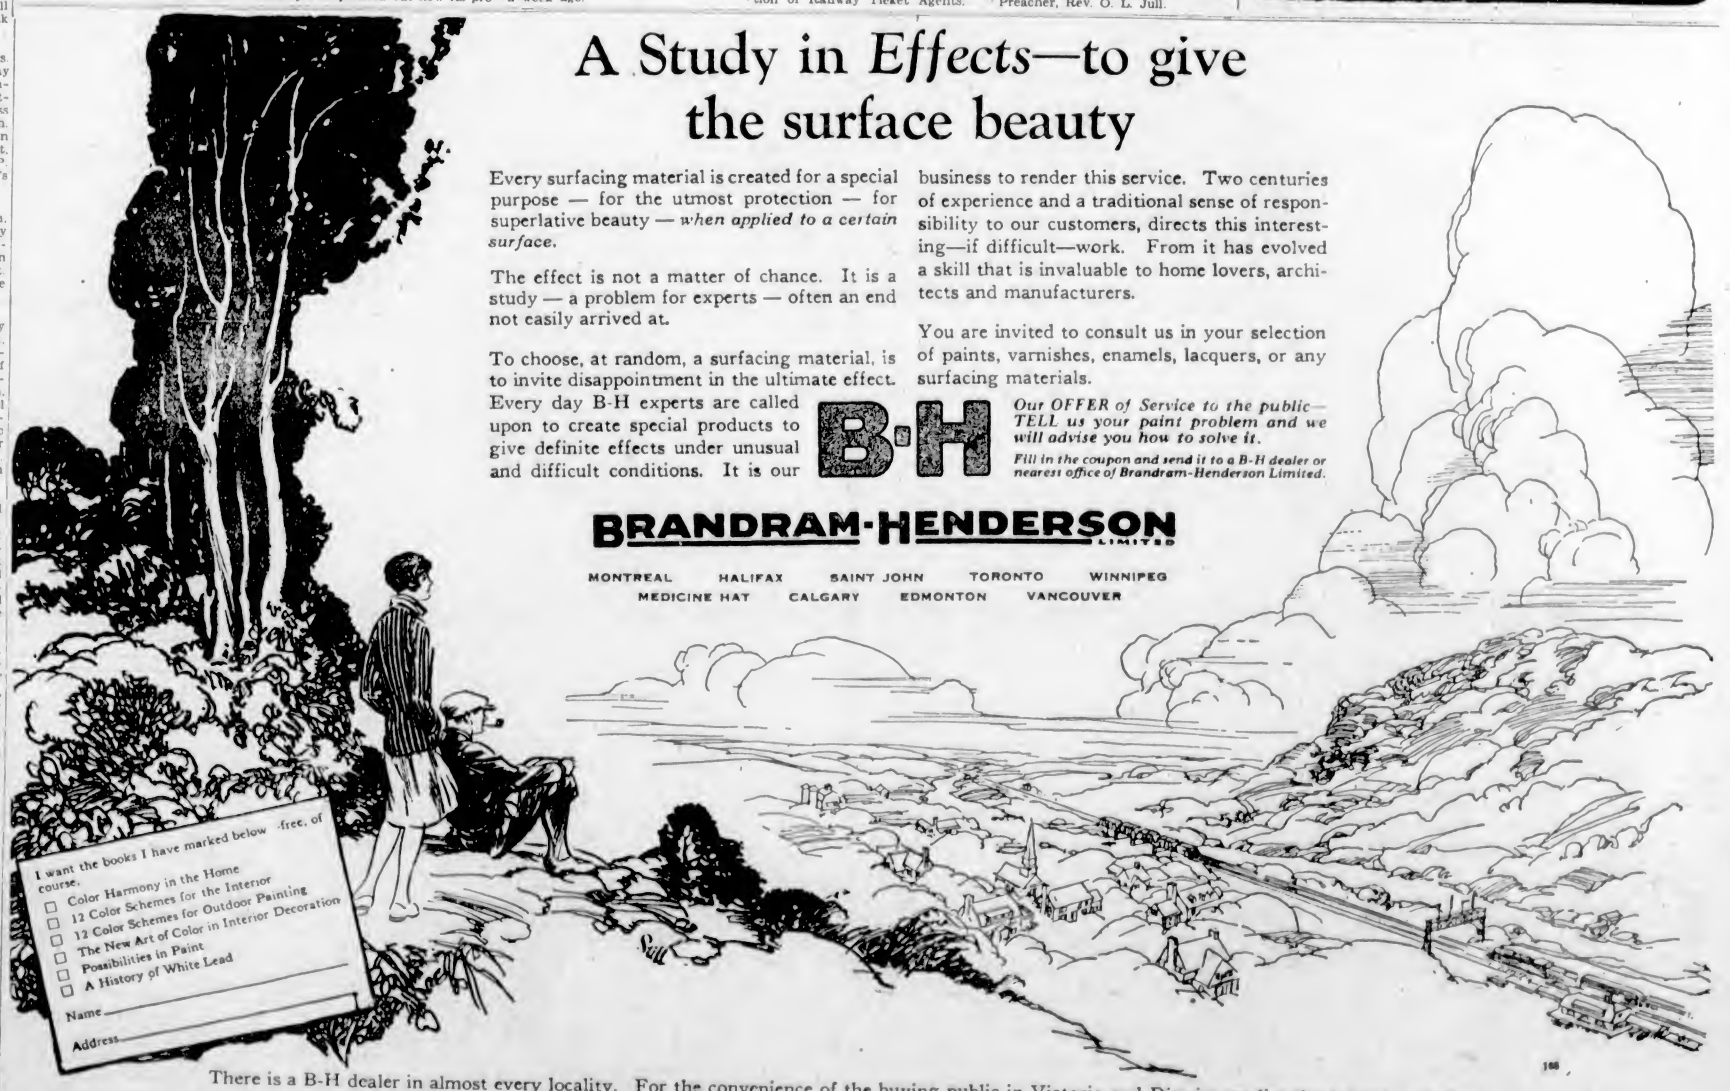

KAMLOOPS, May 15.—George Henry Park, twenty-two, a native of Liverpool, and one month out from London, lies in the Royal Inland Hospital with a foot off, the result of falling from a C.P.R. westbound train near here. He is progressing favorably.

Park came to this country under the Empire settlement scheme, and failing to secure work at Calgary, was making for the Coast. He is philosophical over his calamity and says it was entirely his own fault, as he had been warned even in England not to "ride the bumpers."

MR. WOODWARD WILL NOT RUN AS SUPPORTER

Liberal Member for Vancouver Says He Cannot Accept Nomination as Candidate of Government

CANNOT APPROVE COURSE FOLLOWED

VANCOUVER, May 15.—Mr. Charles Woodward will not be a Government candidate in the coming provincial general election. He has written to the City Liberal Association and to Premier J. D. MacLean to this effect.

Mr. Woodward states that friction between the Government and himself in regard to the Government policy toward Vancouver is the chief reason for his decision. He also states in his letter that he cannot consistently support the policy of the Provincial Government in the future any more than he has in the past. Mr. Woodward's letter to the Liberal organization is as follows:

"Your kind invitation to attend the regular meeting of the executive of your association to hand.

"Owing to the differences of opinion with the Provincial Government of British Columbia, which I am expected to support as a party Liberal and not criticize, and in fairness to you as friends of the British Columbia Government, I wish to state that I cannot consistently support the Provincial Government's policy in the future any more than I have in the past.

"I regret indeed, on account of the very friendly relations that have existed between us in the past, I have to make this statement.

ELECTION SHORTLY

"The election cannot be delayed more than a few months, and you will require time to get your candidates lined up for the fray, therefore I state that I regret I cannot be a Government candidate under its present policy.

"The friction between the British Columbia Government and myself, owing to the policy exercised by them towards the city of Vancouver, is not conducive to the friendly feeling which should exist between the Government and the city of Vancouver.

"There are also other matters which I think are against the development and the best interests of our province which I have considered it my duty to take issue with the Government on.

"I wish to thank the executive of today and those of the past for their friendship and confidence shown to me as senior member for the city of Vancouver, and I can assure you I will not be a Conservative candidate in any case."

PRESIDENT BEATTY UNABLE TO SPEAK TO CANADIAN CLUB

Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will be unable to accept the invitation extended to him by the Canadian Club of Victoria to address the organization at a dinner meeting next Saturday night.

President Kenneth Ferguson, of the Canadian Club, received a telegram last night from Mr. Beatty, who expressed his regret that owing to arrangements already completed for his visit here next week-end, he could not speak to the Canadian Club on Saturday, but hoped that on a subsequent date he would have the pleasure of addressing the Canadian Club membership in Victoria.

SYNOD MEETS IN CONFERENCE

Lutherans of Pacific Northwest Gather Here to Number of Seventy for Twenty-Eighth Meeting

FOUR DAYS WILL BE OCCUPIED

Opening with the hymn of Martin Luther, "Our God a Mighty Fortress Is," and proceeding through the simple and dignified liturgical service of the universal Lutheran Church, including the recitation of the Nicene Creed, public worship initiated in Grace Church last evening, the twenty-eighth conference of the Pacific Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America.

This is the first time in nearly thirty years of its history that the synod has met in Victoria, and an unusually large delegation of nearly seventy is in attendance from the synod's territory, which embraces Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. There is a large representation from Southern Oregon, some as far east as Spokane and as far north as Alaska. The synod has a communicants' roll of 2,500 and thirty-five ministers.

Service was conducted by Rev. W. J. Eck, of The Dalles, Oregon, and the evening preacher was Professor P. W. H Frederick, D.D., who has been president of the synod for a number of years and also superintendent of home missions.

Speaking from the sixth chapter of John's gospel, sixty-eighth verse, Dr. Frederick affirmed the inadequacy of good government, culture and scientific accomplishment to satisfy the soul of man appealed to the congregation to hold fast to the gospel and to trust in Christ alone as the Saviour of the world.

After a solo by Miss Margaret Brynjolfson and the administration of the Lord's Supper, a committee on credentials was appointed consisting of Rev. H. I. Kohler, L. Awes, H. R. Allan and Messrs. Harry Scott and R. M. Bonsen; and a committee on reference and counsel composed of Revs. W. E. Brinkman, L. Deck, W. I. Eck and A. Engeset.

Business sessions of the convention will be held during the day with public meetings this evening and Thursday and Friday evenings. This afternoon there is a private session of the ministerium and also the annual meeting of the men's brotherhoods.

SUBJECT TONIGHT

Tonight, Rev. Dr. F. F. Fry, of Chicago, national executive secretary of home missions, will survey the expansion of the Lutheran cause in Canada and the United States. Forty-four missions were added during 1926, or nearly one per week. Another national enterprise is the Ministerial Pension and Relief fund, for which $4,000,000 is being raised. The gratifying report will be given this week that the amount of $12,372 assigned to this synod was overpassed by over fifty per cent, and reached $19,116. The local congregation exceeded its allotment by over $100.

The social features include dinner and supper served by the ladies of the congregation. At the Friday evening dinner, honor will be given to Rev. J. C. Kungmann, D.D., who has completed fifty years of ministry in the church, and who will that evening give the closing address of the synod, and the question of theological education, a subject of special interest to the everable leader as head of the Theological Seminary in Seattle.

The visitors drove to the gardens of "Benvenuto" yesterday afternoon, at the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart, and greatly enjoyed the beauty of the famous gardens.

DIAMOND RING IS PLACED UPON COLLECTION PLATE

There will be a missionary lecture on "India" delivered by Mr. George Wallace Scott, Jr., pastor, at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, before the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society, at Victory Temple, 1406 Douglas Street. The public is invited. At the close of the lecture on "The Lepers of India" last Wednesday by the pastor, a fine offering was given, one lady putting a diamond ring on the plate. The report of the home missionaries among the Asiatics of Victoria, was very encouraging. Four missionaries give full time to this work of daily visitation in the homes and also in the Chinese hospital.

C. Thackara, of New York, chairman of the United States Intercoastal Conference, who has arrived in Seattle.

Mr. Thackara is on his first visit to the Pacific Coast since he was appointed to the position. He has begun a series of conferences with wholesale and retail industrial traffic managers, Chamber of Commerce officials and traffic representatives of the coast-to-coast steamship lines.

Mr. Thackara said the rules of the conference provide that a line violating the agreement can be fined four times the amount of the freight money involved in the transaction in question.

Large in stature, and holding one of the highest and most powerful positions in American shipping, Mr. Thackara immediately gives the impression that he is an executive well trained in his field.

Thirty years ago he entered the service of Peter Wright & Sons, of Philadelphia in a minor office position. He left that firm nineteen years ago to become vice-president of the Luckenbach Steamship Company. Mr. Thackara resigned from the Luckenbach Company last August to become chairman of the United States Intercoastal Conference.

He is a native of Philadelphia. Peter Wright & Sons operated in the transatlantic trade, but Mr. Thackera's outstanding service has been in the intercoastal route.

"The purpose of the conference, which is composed of twelve steamship lines, is to provide stability in freight rates and traffic conditions in the intercoastal trade," said Mr. Thackara. "We feel that we can solve traffic and trade problems more effectively by direct contact."

Fire in Vermilion

VERMILION, Alta., May 15.—A tangle of steel rods and tires, charred remains of a tractor or two and the smouldering embers of some twenty tons of hay are all that remain of the horse barn and machine shed at the School of Agriculture, following one of the fiercest fires against which the local fire brigade has been pitted in its history. The cause of the fire is unknown. It is believed, however, to have started in the loft of the horse barn. The loss will be about $25,000.

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

ROYAL OAK

The monthly meeting of the Royal Oak Women's Institute, held at the home of Mrs. Nicholson on the East Road, was well attended, with several visitors present. Mrs. Pinhorn presided. Reports were received from conveners of the recent dance and bulb show, showing good returns from both affairs. A letter was read from Mr. P. R. Leighton, secretary of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association, in appreciation of assistance rendered by members of the Royal Oak Women's Institute at the Victoria Spring Flower Show, held last month. A vote of thanks was enthusiastically acorded Mrs. Clarence H. Oldfield, convener of the institute display at the above mentioned show, who not only arranged the flowers but furnished a great variety of blooms from her own garden. It was thought best for next year's local show to enlarge the children's department to include rock gardens, bird houses and decorated tables, and to award the prizes during the afternoon of the show. The quilting bee and canning demonstration will be held on the first Wednesday in June at St. Michael's Church Hall, beginning at 10 o'clock. The June meeting will also be held in the afternoon of the same day. It was decided to combine the July picnic with the contemplated visit to the Solarium, the secretary to enquire as to bus arrangements and report at the next meeting. Miss Riddell, of Victoria, speaker for the afternoon, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "Education and Better Schools." Mrs. Musgrave, of Vancouver, was a welcome visitor during the afternoon, and it was learned she will probably return in the Autumn to her old home on Wilkinson Road. A social hour was enjoyed over the teacup. Mrs. Pinhorn and Mrs. Nicholson were hostesses for the afternoon.

LANGFORD

Mrs. Phipps and Miss Savory are delegates at the Women's Institute conference at Duncan this week. Mrs. J. L. Brown, as district convener of Industries, will give her report at the meeting.

N. Saanich Social Club

The usual merry gathering of members and friends of the North Saanich Social Club was held in the clubrooms, School Crossroads, on Saturday night. The evening passed pleasantly at progressive five hundred, which was played at fifteen tables. Prizes were won by Miss May Bawsan and Colonel Peck. At the termination of the cards, the younger members assisted with the serving of the refreshments and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, which was enthusiastically continued until midnight, the music being efficiently supplied by Mrs. H. Horth and Mr. W. Bosher.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the club was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gurton, East Road. The president, Mrs. B. Readings, occupied the chair and opened the meeting, at which there was a good attendance. The secretary, Mrs. W. C. Clarke, read the minutes, which were adopted. The concert and dance which are to be held in the clubrooms on Friday evening, June 1, were discussed, and it was decided that the ladies would undertake the serving of the refreshments, and a committee was appointed. The forthcoming bazaar to be held in the Autumn was discussed, and various suggestions presented. A quantity of fancywork was received and distributed among the ladies. It was reported that work had commenced on the painting of the hall, and many comments had been received on its improved appearance. Several other matters received attention, and the meeting adjourned for tea, which was served by the hostess, and will meet next month at the home of Mrs. George Clarke, West Road.

The sports committee of the club announced that the Harris handicap bicycle race for boys and girls will be held on Saturday afternoon, May 20, at 2:30 o'clock. The course will start from Bazan Bay along the East Road, down School Crossroads, and thence to the clubrooms, where refreshments will be served to contestants. The race is open to all children of club members under sixteen years of age. Gold and bronze medals will be given by Mr. Harris, of Messrs. Harris & Smith, for first and second in the race, while points for the quickest time for both boys and girls will be counted towards the Spencer challenge cups.

The concert committee of the Social Club announce a concert for Friday evening, June 1, at 8:30 o'clock, when some excellent talent has been secured. Following the concert, refreshments will be served, and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing. The proceeds from the evening will be devoted entirely to sports and sporting equipment.

FINE RECORD IS ATTAINED

Island Institutes Praised for Initiating Action to Halt Showing of Hickman Film

SHOULD HELP AGRICULTURAL FAIR

A comprehensive survey of Women's Institute work on Vancouver Island during the past year was given by the secretary, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, to the Islands District Women's Institute Conference at Duncan yesterday.

During the period following the last district conference, October 19, 1926, two secretaries had functioned on the district board. In September, 1927, Miss Dashwood, the elected secretary, left unexpectedly for England, to be absent indefinitely, and it became necessary to choose another secretary. Mrs Gordon had offered to act as secretary-treasurer pro tem, until the next conference and her offer had been accepted by the board on October 21, 1927.

Since that time a very large number of letters have been received and sent out. At one board meeting alone, over sixty letters were dealt with. The Hickman case required 150 letters, the conference a still larger number and had not the superintendent, Mrs. MacLachlan, and her stenographer given assistance, the work would have been very difficult.

The board's routine business had been heavy. It was a bureau of information to perplexed institutes, a help to all desiring its good offices and was intended to act as advisory to the superintendent and the department in all matters connected with the district. The board had taken the deepest interest in all the work reported by institutes and earnestly seconded the efforts of the Department and the Provincial Board in creating markets for women's products and have long desired more instruction in industries for rural women, to enable them to produce merchantable products commanding a ready sale. The rug and quilt industry received a decided impetus at the meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, followed by exhibits and demonstrations at the Armories during the Home Products Fair.

This fair, or rather the Islands District's share in it received much favorable comment and the result has been that those concerned in it have been asked to stage a similar exhibit and demonstration at the Fall Fair in Victoria. In Vancouver, too, the institutes have been asked to stage something of the sort.

The resolution of the Hickman film had won for the district board, the very highest praise from almost every body cognizant of it. The Municipal I.O.D.E. of Victoria wrote the board congratulating them, as did also many other organizations in British Columbia and in Alberta.

This year the Government had defrayed all transportation expenses for all official delegates, each institute was entitled to one delegate, has printed the programmes, and allowed a stenographer to aid materially in the preparation for the conference.

Institues were urged to do all in their power to build up, not only their own local fairs, but the larger exhibitions, Provincial or otherwise, such as those held in Courtenay, Duncan, Victoria, Saanichton, Vancouver and New Westminster. By exhibiting in the smaller local shows, the institutes got local credit and publicity for their organization and their district as well as for their individual institute.

The meeting was reminded that Victoria Fair was making special arrangements this year for institute exhibits and is devoting the upper floor of the Women's Building to that purpose.

Sooke and North Sooke were complimented upon an unusually conscientious secretary. Colwood was forging ahead rapidly, and Qualicum deserved great credit. Langford had gone into the front row. Strawberry Vale had built a fine new hall, and West Saanich had built and paid for a hall costing approximately $4,000. Cobble Hill, Cowichan and Vimy were high in health work. Lake Hill, Garden City and South Saanich did excellent work in entertainment. Parksville's schools still reflected credit on its Institute.

Nearly all Institutes had shown a very kindly interest in the little children of the Solarium.

It is in proportion as we work and give that we live and grow as Institutes and individuals, said the secretary in closing. "Love and service are the only things that make life worth living. Creative development that comes with doing makes a new and worth-while woman out of a very commonplace lady. And our aim should be to work so as to have in our country the greatest possible number of happy and prosperous homes filled with good and progressive citizens. All of our ten committees will be needed, everyone should be pressed into service, all workers, no gallery of critics, should be our motto in Institute work and with such a breadth of vision as Institute ideals give us, how can we fail to succeed?"

Vogues---

WE Keep the Spots

Vogues and customs change, but even in a day of stiff manners and starched clothes, women of charm knew the allure of spotless attire.

They could not, however, call up a modern service like the Pantorium as you can, and have their dresses for Spring and early Summer collected and promptly returned—and so delightfully unrecognizable from the crushed and faded garments that had been put away in the Fall.

Women's Institutes Are Zealous for Home Crafts

Subject Is Discussed at Conference in Progress at Duncan—Marketing Problems Raised, in View of Placing Products Economically

DUNCAN, May 15.—Twenty-nine institutes, one less than the total number in the district, were represented at the opening session of the Islands District Institute Conference which opened this morning at Duncan. Proceedings under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frank Campbell, the president, were carried through with such dispatch that when adjournament for luncheon took place at 12:30, the programme was slightly ahead of schedule.

The morning session was productive of some interesting little discussions, principally on home industries. In addition to the routine details, including registration of delegates and members, the address of welcome by Mayor J. Islay Mutter, of Duncan, and reply by Mrs. W. Peden, of Victoria, the president's address, the minutes, roll call, report of resolutions' committee and reports of the secretary, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, treasurer and convener of industries, Mrs. Dyer.

The morning session took place at the Odd Fellows' Hall, and the afternoon session at Vimy Institute Hall, which the members reached by motor after luncheon.

In his welcoming address Mayor Mutter urged that further attention be given to Mothers' Pensions and to the present liquor legislation. Mrs. Peden, in her reply, expressed the thanks of the conference.

The president's and secretary's addresses, printed elsewhere in this issue, were read at this stage.

RESOLUTIONS

Mrs. Nimmo, vice-president, took the chair, while Mrs. Frank Campbell read the report of the resolutions' committee. Among the resolutions was one from Shawnigan Institute concerning inspection of schools, a reply to which by Dr. MacLean, was read; one concerning Orientals in British Columbia, and that from Royal Oak Institute concerning the creation of legal status for the district institute on the same basis as that enjoyed by the provincial board. This was referred back to the individual institutes for discussion and voting so that delegates might come to the meeting with instructed vote. Lake Hill's resolution, protesting against employment of married women, led to a recommendation that it be referred to the local Council of Women, Trades and Labor Councils, or similiar urban groups.

The new resolutions committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Webster.

REPORTS

Shirley's yearly report was read by Mrs. Anderson. There were reports also from Shawnigan, Esquimalt, South Salt Spring, Lake Hill and South Saanich.

Lack of co-operation among local conveners was reported by Mrs. Dyer in her report on industries. Some institutes had complained of lack of markets. One district asked for a kiln, another for a woolen mill. She urged close connection between individual institutes and district conveners.

INDUSTRIES

In opening the discussion on industries, Mrs. V. S. Maclachlan, superintendent of institutes, described the source of the inspiration for the recently designed "Chinook" rug which had been adopted by the women's institutes. Knowing the monotony of the lives of some of the farmers' wives she had conceived the idea of some homecraft or industry which would occupy them in a lucrative way in their spare time without much outlay of money. The speaker told of the work of evolving suitable design, typical of British Columbia (Indian), the consideration of working up a market, methods of advertising to bring these crafts to the attention of the tourist (including display at Home Products' Fair, and more recent exhibition of rugs and quilts at the Hudson's Bay Company, Vancouver, visited by 15,000 people, including Lady Willingdon). Once the crafts were established they must consider the marketing.

Mrs. Gordon answered that the best rugs (with emphasis on the "best") made by skilled workers, who cut their rags carefully, hooked skilfully, brought $25. The indifferent worker could hardly expect to get the highest price. Mrs. Margaret Murray, who handled the rugs, had to pay rent for her rooms and had to meet this expense. In handling the rugs she assumed certain risk. Any woman who made the rugs, Mrs. Maclachlan explained, had the option of selling them to her customer direct if she could fined a market.

One speaker, Mrs. Goodall, Colwood, stated that at the Fall Fair one home-made rug had fetched $50 from an enthusiastic buyer.

Mrs. Snodgrass, Bella Coola, reported that she made socks which she sold for $1.25, although the wool cost her sixty cents. Where could she get the wool more cheaply? Another speaker said if there were any source of Shetland wool she thought there would be a good market for Shetland shawls.

Hand-made lace was another commodity which would find a ready market. Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. J. D. Gordon and others gave testimony to the popularity and marketability of Denman Island lace. Mrs. Mason-Hurley called attention to water-color sketches of Vancouver Island scenery shown.

Mrs. Maclachlan emphasized the need of instruction in making the products, briefly reciting the history of the home handicrafts' shop which had gone out of business simply because the standard of workmanship was so poor.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Nighties are so lovely this season. They are much shorter than ever before—so short, in fact, that many of them can be worn as Summer dresses. Indeed, I know one woman who bought two adorable nightdresses of ninon, beautifully embroidered, which she used as Summer dance frocks. And they made a small sensation.

The nightgown in the illustration, while lovely, is not the type that could possibly be worn as a frock. It is of Nile green crepe de Chine. Cream lace, in deep points, trims the garment.

The point theme is repeated at the hem, which is cut in the points and picoted.

Paris has revived the fad of having "sets" of jewelry consisting of necklaces, bracelets, brooches, hatpins and rings all made in the same design.

CHAPTER XIX.

Chauviniere laughed, although he paled a little under his tan.

"But what words! Come, citizen: let us be practical. How can my death serve you. Will it, do you tion of complying with the obligationof complying with the decree of the Revolutionary Tribunal, or, in the alternative, of leaving your head on the guillotine? A little reflection, my friend, will show you that it will merely precipitate your doom."

The vicomte remained unperturbed. "And a little reflection on your side will show you that my life being already forfeit, I can lose nothing by killing you."

"But an act of such puerile and fruitless vindictiveness!" Chauviniere seemed shocked and hurt. "Besides, my friend, I have two men with me, out there. If you imagine that to shot me will afford you a chance of escape, you are wrong The sound of the shot will bring in my men, and that will be the end of you."

"If that were true—which I know it not to be—the intervention would still come too late to prevent the end of you. And Mademoiselle de Montsorbier, at least, will have been made safe. Also you will have expiated the unforgivable assumption which led you to raise your rascal's eyes to her. You son of a dog! You gutter-begotten rogue! Your very last glance has been a defilement to her. A slug crawling over the white purity of a lily's petal."

"We become lyrical!" said Chauviniere, but there was a snarl in his voice, for inwardly his arrogant soul was writhing under the lash of the nobleman's contemptuous insults. "I understand, I think. Well, well, you have me at a advantage. I must make terms, I suppose."

"There are no terms to be made. It but remains that you give the only payment you can afford."

"You mean that you intend to murder me in cold blood! It is inconcetvable. After all, you are a gentleman, not an assassin." There was no mockery now in Chauviniere's voice. It was warmly earnest. "At least, let us exchange shots, here in this room—at ten paces, or any distance that you please elsewhere. You cannot do less than that."

Monsieur de Corbal resumed his urbanity. "I am desolated to refuse you even that. If it were a question only of myself, of my own life and liberty, I would accede gladly. Indeed, I doubt if I should be at even so much trouble to preserve them. But there is Mademoiselle de Montsorbier. I cannot allow either her fate or the punishment of the insult your attentions have put upon her to lie at the mercy of luck or marksmanship."

Chauviniere's face had turned grey. "I am to be murdered, then?"

"Not murdered. Executed."

"A fine distinction."

"You have dealt a little freely yourself in fine distinction where the anguish of others was concerned. It is just that a man should sometimes drink as he has poured." The vicomte's cold sternness left little doubt of the measure of his resolve. Without moving his eyes from Chauviniere, he spoke to Mademoiselle de Montsorbier. "Mademoiselle, may I beg you to withdraw?"

"My God!" broke in a groan from the representative's bloodless lips, his arrogant spirit now subdued entirely. Only the vicomte's fixed stare and the conviction that his least movement must hasten the approaching doom prevented him from taking the chance of reaching for that pistol in his bosom. Though fear might have him now in an icy grip, yet his wits retained their clarity To the last second he would wait and watch for his opportunity. Therefore was he still careful to do nothing to precipitate an end that might yet be averted.

"If you please, mademoiselle!" the vicomte repeated almost peremptorily, for mademoiselle had made no movement to obey him.

She moved at last, but not to depart.

"A moment, please," she said. She strove with her agitation "Let us be practical, as the citizen-representative himself began by suggesting."

Touched though she might be by the terrible intransigent demands of the vicomte's devotion, she realized the futility of sacrificing a chance of escape and safety, which she dimly perceived, to the exploitation of a romantic vindictiveness. She saw more clearly and farther than the vicomte. She had less resentment to blind her. To be desired by a man, however unworthy, can never be quite so unpardonable an offence in the eyes of a woman as in those of her accepted lover. Therefore her thirst for Chauviniere's blood was less fierce than the vicomte's. It might go unslaked so that his life should serve them better than his death.

Calmly she now expounded her proposals.

"The citizen-representative spoke just now of making terms. Let him write three lines, informing the Revolutionary Tribunal of Poussignot that he has found it necessary suddenly to pay a visit to Nevers, which will keep him absent until tomorrow. After that, let him consent to be confined here for twenty-four hours, so as to give us that measure of start in our escape Those are the terms on which you will, no doubt, agree, Vicomte, to spare his life."

The vicomte's face darkened. "I should prefer——"

She interrupted him, her tone persuasively insistent. "I have told you, my friend, what I desire. It is believe me, better, safer so; nor do I want you to soil your hands unnecessarily."

If he yielded grudgingly, at least he wasted no words.

"It is for you to command. Be it so. You have heard mademoiselle's proposal, citizen. What do you say?"

Chauviniere breathed more freely. The tide of his courage flowed again, bringing with it at once a resumption of his normal manner If he accepted this chance of life he certainly should not be suspected of snatching at it.

He now took his time in answering, let it be seen that he pondered the proposal in dignified calm.

"As I have already said, you have me at a disadvantage." He shrugged. "I must therefore capitulate on the terms you offer. But I'll first require some guarantee that when I have fulfilled my part, you will not fail to perform yours."

"My word is my guarantee," said Corbal curtly.

Chauviniere pursed his lips. "A little meagre," he deprecated.

"It has never yet been so accounted. And only a fellow of your own base origin, ignorant of the ways of men of honor, could suppose it."

Chauviniere looked at him, and sneered. "It is evidently among the ways of men of honor to insult the man at whose head you hold a pistol. That is noble. That inspires confidence. That insures one that the word of such a man is a sufficient guarantee of anything!" He was bitterly derisive. "But I must take my chance of your keeping your faith. I see that plainly. Tell me this, at least: When you have departed, and the twenty-four hours shall have come to an end, who is to restore me to liberty?"

"I shall arrange for that."

"You'll forgive my importunity in desiring to know something of those arrangements before I surrender completely to your wishes. You'll realize my reluctance to be left to starve in the cellar into which you'll lock me if you should forget, or find it difficult, to take the necessary steps to procure my release."

It was mademoiselle who answered him. "At this hour tomorrow the key to your prison shall be delivered to the president of the Revolutionary Committee, together with a note containing the information necessary to procure your enlargement."

He inclined his head. "That will do excellently, of course. But who will carry the key and the note?"

"You may depend upon us to find a messenger, wherever we may be. There is no difficulty in that."

"But messengers are sometimes unreliable. If this one should delay or neglect entirely to discharge his errand?"

"We shall do our best to procure a messenger entirely trustworthy, and we shall assure him of a handsome reward at your hands to quicken his zeal. That is the utmost we can do. The rest is your risk."

He shrugged and spread his hands. "I must accept it, I suppose. You leave me no other choice."

"About it, then." Corbal commanded him. "Write your note here. You will find quills, ink and paper."

Vancouver Tribune Praises Work of B. C. Dramatic School

Recital at Kitsilano High School Recently, Cause of Enthusiastic Review by Prominent Writer

The B.C. Dramatic School Recital at the Kitsilano High School was a surprise to most of the large audience. The long and varied programme contained some numbers of outstanding merit. The first was an extract translated from that beautiful Spanish play, "The Fountain of Youth," L. Bullock-Webster as Cellini, had sensed the spirit of the play, and lost no jot of poetry or romance that a mellow and beautifully modulated voice could interpret. His graceful polished portrayal of the blind poet was convincing. Olive Fisher was stately and very charming as the Duke's daughter. Her diction and poise were excellent. Jean Salter's interpretation of Tennyson's "Mermaid" was quite delightful. She has grace, sincerity and charm. Olive Malcolm gave a better rendering of "The Highwayman" than even the author on his recent visit. Gertrude Jennings' comedy, "I'm Sorry It's Out" was very well given by Jessie Sewell, Mary Percival, Madora Hardy, H. Nixon and M. D. Gussett. This was the number that the younger portion of the audience liked best, and it was received with prolonged applause. Alice Brewer, a prominent member of the Little Theatre, and a talented authoress, gave a highly amusing version of Chinese Rhymes set to music. She was greeted with deafening applause. The gem of the evening was perhaps the Wood Scene from Barrie's "Dear Brutus," in which little Peggie Cartwright, famous a few years ago as a child movie star, showed remarkable dramatic talent as Margaret Dearth. Her naturalness, grace and overflowing vitality exactly suited the part, and it would be hard to imagine a better portrayal of the part of Wm. Dearth than that given by L. Bullock-Webster, so completely changed in appearance and manner as to be almost unrecognizable as the Cellini of the earlier play. Olive Malcolm and Jean Salter gave a very dainty version of "A Fantasy." This little scene ended with some ephemeral posing as dainty as Dresden china. Madora Hardy (a great favorite with the audience) gave a spirited rendering of "The Cattle Thief," and Mary Percival, in Indian costume, recited "A Cry From An Indian Wife" with sincerity and force. Corinne Taylor was responsible for stage direction, and gave an introduction to the plays very charmingly. The B.C. Dramatic School is setting a rather high standard for its students, but is undoubtedly doing a splendid work in the Province.

STUDENTS HEARD IN ENJOYABLE RECITAL

An enjoyable recital was given on Monday evening by the pupils of Mrs. Brenton Boulton, A.R.C.M., at the studio, 1157 Hilda Street, which was listened to with delight and interest by nearly fifty parents and friends. The children showed the result of excellent grounding and training, some of the older pupils exhibiting real musical ability. The programme included a duet by Elaine Willard and Mrs. Boulton, "Rustic Dance" (Hunton), Vernica Francis; "Swinging" (Spaulding), and "Cantilene" (Le Couppey), Doreen Maynard; "Grasshopper" (Bilbro) and "Butterflies" (Twinning), Mary Smyth. E. Willard, M. Smyth and V. Francis played a trio, "Vesper Bells" (Krogmann), and Elaine Willard gave "Minuet" and "Allegro Vivace." A duet, "Chant san Paroles" (Tschaikowsky), was played by Dorothy Weatherell and Pearl Matthews; "Sonatina" (Beethoven), Eleanor Dixon; trio, "Sleigh Ride" (Ducelle), Enid McConnell, Marianne Fraser and Gladys Scrivener. Others taking part in the programme were Mrs. Matheson, Alice Dougan, May Wootton, Dorothy Thompson, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Willard, Marjorie Tebo and Cecelia Garesche, who played, with Mrs. Boulton, "A la Bien Aimee" (Shuett).

Following the recital refreshments were served, and a number of the guests gave musical selections which added to the evening's enjoyment.

RUTH POLES OUT TWO HOMERS AGAINST DETROIT

British Favorites Advance in Women's Golf at Hunstanton

Field in Old Country Dwindles to Thirty-Two —Glenna Collett Defeats Former Champion— Mollie Gourlay Wins

HUNSTANTON, England, May 15.—All the British favorites stayed in the British women's golf championship today. The field is now reduced to thirty-two and includes: Enid Wilson, Doris Fowler, Mollie Gourley, Mabel Wragg, Aline Dobson and Joy Win. There are also the invaders to be reckoned with, more particularly Glenna Collett, who disposed of the titleholder, Simone de la Chaume, in the first round, and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd.

One of the features of today's play was the defeat of Mrs. Temple Dobell by Miss Collett. The American won the match from the jovial Mrs. Dobell four up and two to play. Mrs. Dobell gave the invading champion a good match, but nowadays she is probably more interested in her domestic mixed foursome—two little boys and two little girls—than the British championship. She played with considerable spirit, still the same sort of golfer that she was when, as Gladys Ravenscroft, she won the United States title in 1913. When Miss Collett was dormie the Britisher carried her to the eighteenth by winning the fifth. But the United States champion was deadly today, never faltering on the greens, where she wobbled in her first match with the titleholder. Miss E. Curtis, of Iowa, was a winner today over Miss Couper, of Scotland. The match went to the eighteenth green, where the invader staged a fine recovery.

ENGLISH STARS OPPONENTS

The luck of the draw finds the two English stars, Miss Wilson and Miss Fowler, stacking up against each other tomorrow. Miss Gourley plays Mrs. Stewart-Hanley, an American, who had considerable difficulty overcoming Miss Alice Firebrace today. Mabel Wragg, the champion of Yorkshire, is looked to for a strong stand against Miss Collett tomorrow.

Today's activities were comparatively mild following yesterday's deluge of matches. There were few surprises and the fondly-hoped-for final between Miss Glenna Collett, United States star, and Miss Enid Wilson, of Nottingham, was brought a step nearer realization by the defeat of the French entrant, Diana Esmont, of Chantilly, by Miss Wilson.

WINS SEVEN AND SIX

The English star won seven of the nine holes going out, ultimataely winning seven up and six to play. The chief results in today's play of British competitors follow:

Mlle. Le Blan, France, beat Mrs. Long, of Woodbridge, 4 and 3.

Miss Hartill, of Copeath, defeated Miss Audrey Croft, of Ashford Manor, 3 and 2.

Miss Joyce Alderbright defeated Mrs. Jones, of Sheffield, 5 and 4.

Miss Gourlay eliminated Miss Madill, of Hermitage, 5 and 3.

Miss Corlett, of Litham, beat Miss Fitzgibbons, of Greystones, 2 and 1.

Miss Percy Garon defeated Miss Berly Brown, of Lancashire, 2 and 1.

Miss Doris Fowler beat Miss Lettham, of Ganton, 3 and 2.

Miss Marshall, of Handy Lodge, beat Mrs. Cautley, of Thanet, 3 and 2.

Miss Chambers defeated Miss Joan Gow, of St. Nicholas, 4 and 3.

Miss Fowler defeated Mrs. De Winton, of Good Beach, 1 up.

Walter Hagen Talks It Over

British Open and American Professional Champ Tells of Tourney He Ran, When He Failed to Get Own Prize Money

By WALTER HAGEN

National Professional Golf Champion.

(Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

LONDON, May 15.—Kansas City is going to have a $6,000 open golf tournament next month, right after the national open at the Olympia Fields Club in Chicago. A special train is to run from Chicago to Kansas City. That is more good news for the professionals, especially so when it is understood that this will become an annual tournament known as the Mid-American open, and that within a few years the purse may amount to $20,000. Los Angeles will probably boost the January tournament there to a $15,000 event.

Walter Hagen

What I want to get around to in this article is about Kansas City and the tournament staged there three years ago. The event was advertised and the boys all planned to go to it, but at the last minute it was called off.

Bob Harlow, my manager, and myself, decided that if the Kansas City people would permit, we would carry on the tournament. Having obtained permission, we carried this idea out, putting up some $2,500 in prize money, guaranteeing the other expenses and taking the gate receipts.

After the play ended we had all the cash taken in piled up on a big table in the clubhouse, and sat there with two or three bankers. The bills were wound up in rubber bands. We counted out the prize money, all but my three hundred for finishing third, and then after all the boys had been paid we started on the other expenses.

There was so much advertising, so much for the committee tents, so much for police protection, and so on. Meanwhile the pile of bills, which appeared formidable when we started the assault upon it, was getting very sick.

When it had been reduced to the vanishing point, my manager asked one of the bankers present what he estimated our profits would be. The banker replied, after looking at the table:

"I think you gentlemen will win the rubber bands."

Well, we gave the tournament and got out with nothing more serious than the loss of my prize money. In all my experience this was the only tournament in which I won prize money that I failed to collect. But the boys had a good time, and perhaps our little effort helped to stimulate the interest which may result in a $20,000 tournament in Kansas City.

The Kansas City Chamber of Commerce and all civic clubs are supporting the tournament. The event will be played over the Lakewood Golf and Country Club course.

Jack Malley, one of the leading resident professionals in Southern California, told me that section was much in favor of a number of moneyed tournaments for the professionals.

One thing is strange to me, and that is that there appears to be more interest in Great Britain than in America in challenge singles matches. The open tournament is the only golf event which gets support over here. I think that if challenge matches were arranged between local professionals, a great deal of interest would be created. This was a common practice in the early days of golf and a great deal of golfing history has been written around challenge matches among the old masters.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What is the best position of the feet with regard to the lie of a ball when driving? That is, should one stand with the ball opposite the left foot, the right foot, or the centre of the body?

By JOHNNY FARRELL

Winner of Eastern, Metropolitan, Shawnee, Wheeling, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Philadelphia and Chicago Open Championships, 1927.

In driving one should have the ball opposite the left heel. Most players cannot quite understand the reason for it, but it is almost impossible to have a good follow through standing in front of the ball.

You must stand slightly behind the ball, which gives you a chance to hit through without getting the body in front of the blow.

Games will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Clubmen will field somewhat the same eleven as that which carried them to the championship last season. Five C's have a good side together, and look for an interesting game with the Tillicums. Hudson's Bay, last year's runners-up, will present a much stronger line-up this season, and are expected to be in the race all of the way. T. & V.'s, the fourth club in the loop, are expected to trot out a strong team.

The Champion's Bench at the Forthcoming V. C. K. C. Show

By MAJOR H. W. NIVEN

Of all the champions to be shown on the champions' bench at the V.C.K.C. show on Friday and Saturday, none will uphold the splendid record of a splendid breed more bravely than Ch. Ellwyn Chiel, who is to carry the banner of the Scottish terriers, those game diehards so dear to the heart of every Scot.

This gallant veteran—now in his ninth year—is a native of Scotland, having been bred by D. Robertson, of Galashiels, and is by Earl of Tayside out of Brunette of Tayside, was first brought to Canada by Mr. Buchanan, of Toronto, and his subsequent career has conferred nothing but honor on his breed and native land.

These terriers are descendants of the short-legged, long-backed terriers of the Highlands, which from time immemorial have been used to hunt foxes, badgers, otters and pole cats, and which were of all colors ranging from white through all shades of wheaten and grey to black. Different parts of the country favored different colors, probably on account of the type of background, for, as can be understood easily, a light-colored dog would be much better seen by the hunter against dark rocks or heather, and a dark dog in the open or among sandhills.

GREAT GRIPPING POWER

The short legs and long supple body of the terrier enable him to make his way underground, where his chief work is performed (his name is derived from the French terre—earth), and to penetrate where no larger dog could go, and his strong jaws and teeth give him the power to grip and hold an animal much larger than himself; for when one considers the size of a fullgrown fox and that of a die-hard, it seems any odds on the fox, while actually the case is quite the reverse.

Yet every advantage of teeth, jaws and muscle would be utterly useless without the courage of a lion, and in a real Scottish terrier there is no craven inch, he is pluck personified from nose to tail-tip—

"Fair play, I'll back the brave wee chap
To fecht the De'il himsel'."

as was sung by Dr. Gordon Stables, one of the great admirers and breeders of the die-hard.

These terriers have added a well-deserved reputation in the show ring to their ancient prowess as hunters, and Ch. Ellwyn Chiel has a record which will bear scrutiny with the best. At the Toronto Exhibition he was placed winner, the same at Victoria in 1926, when he was also awarded the Hogg Cup for the best Scottish terrier in the show; at New Westminster he went to best of breed and best terrier of all breeds. In 1927, at Victoria, he again went best of breed, and won the Ennerdale Trophy for the best terrier including Bostons owned by members of the V.C.K.C., and placed winner at the Vancouver Exhibition the same year and has five points towards a second championship. An enviable catalogue.

ONE OF BEST

At stud this great terrier has been equally successful. He is the sire of Ch. Ellwyn Susie, Ellwyn Prince and the famous Jock McGraw, looked upon as one of the best Scottish terriers ever bred in Canada, and in addition to this the Chiel has three hundred sons and daughters in this country.

He is owned by F. Dodsworth, the popular and capable secretary of the V.C.K.C., who is indeed to be congratulated on having such a dog as Ch. Ellwyn Chiel at the head of his kennel.

Manager of Detroit Says Early Success of Cleveland Indians and Brooklyn Due Largely to Pitching

By GEORGE MORIARTY
Manager of the Detroit Baseball Club.
(Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The Cleveland Indians and Wilbert Robinson's Brooklyn Dodgers shared the early season limelight by shattering the dope that had them rated so humbly. It is just another illustration of the unexpected turn in baseball.

Cleveland and Brooklyn staged a world series in 1920. Eight years sweep almost clean through any line-up, leaving only memories of yesterday. Except Joe Sewell, Jamieson, Uhle and George Burns, the Indians are brand new, and there is not one left-over from the Brooklyn machine of 1920.

The success of these clubs has been due mostly to reliable pitching. For the Indians, Uhle and Hudlin have burned up the short trail between the rubber and the plate, and various other members of the staff have displayed much pitching powder. On the other hand, Brooklyn presents the pitching paradox of the major leagues, because it has more boxmen than regular employment calls for. Uncle Robby can be likened to the millionaire who has most of his wealth tied up in one investment.

However, it is obvious that the Brooklyn pilot has been caught short in a few other departments of the game. "Babe" Herman, originally a first baseman, was sent to the outfield. Second basing is an avocation for Riconda, because his previous experience stamps him as a guardian of third, and outfielder Hendricks was pulled into the hot-corner position. Nevertheless, first place has already been occupied by this club. Is there a better example of what real pitching means?

Think of the contrast. Bill Carrigan, of the Red Sox, a most able handler of pitchers, has been much perplexed concerning pitching assignments.

"Picking pitchers early in the year is all guess work," declares Carrigan. "It's easy when the staff gets straightened out in warm weather, but until then most managers have trouble selecting the right starting hurler."

The Red Sox leader has spoken the truth. The cold weather undoubtedly holds back some pitchers. A veteran pitcher may hurl a beautiful game in the Spring, and reveal a tied-up arm the next time out. Two regular pitchers so affected may throw the entire mound scheme out of gear for several weeks. The pitching department which lacks true greatness supplies more problems than all the other positions combined.

Base hits are far more common in the early Spring than in June, July, August and September, because early pitching is not the normal brand. Pitching arms must be conditioned slowly, and the first warm stretch of weather plays a vital part. After that the regular boxmen become more settled. Even a smart pitcher is seldom able to cut loose in the early part of the schedule, and if he is winning, you can bet a turnip against a string-bean that he is using his head more than his arm.

MANDELL NOW FAVORITE TO RETAIN TITLE

Champion Quoted at Seven to Five to Defend Lightweight Crown Against McLarnin Tomorrow

RICKARD'S THEORY TO BE PUT TO TEST

NEW YORK, May 15.—Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin have ended active training for their fifteen-round lightweight championship bout at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

The "Rockford Sheik" and his Vancouver challenger put in a strenuous session yesterday and then laid aside the gloves until they climb through the ropes at the baseball park on Thursday. Mandell plans to come down from his training camp at Orangeburg, N.Y., in time for the weighing-in Thursday afternoon.

McLarnin's pilgrimage to New York will be from Pompton Lakes, N.J., where he has been preparing for his chance at the title, won in other times by such fighters as Benny Leonard, Joe Gans, Battling Nelson and Ad. Wolgast.

Mandell is now a 7-5 favorite here to retain his title, reflecting the sentiment of the experts who believe the champion is too fast and too clever to be caught by the Vancouver boxer's powerful rights which flattened Sid Terris in a single round.

60,000 TO SEE FIGHT

Marking as it does the first lightweight title fight here since Benny Leonard beat Lew Tendler in 1923, the bout appears certain to draw a crowd of 60,000 or more. Some 70,000 tickets have been printed.

McLarnin's right arm, containing the dynamite that knocked out a number of the best lightweights of the day, should prove a high powered box office attraction.

The bout will give Tex Rickard a chance to put one of his theories into practice. Believing that it is absurd to ask lightweights to perform in a ring similar to that which middleweights and the other heavier divisions use, Rickard intends to lower the ropes to conform with the size of the titular principals.

ODDS TAKE TUMBLE

Additional financial backing for Jimmy McLarnin has sent the odds down to six to five that Mandell will succeed in retaining his lightweight crown in his fifteen-round battle with the Pacific Coast slugger at the Polo Grounds Thursday night. Earlier in the week, the odds had favored the champion seven to five. One wager for $1,000 to $2,500 that McLarnin knocks out Mandell was reported.

Gardner Sets Fast Pace in Marathon—Payne Holds Twenty-Two-Hour Lead

ERIE, Pa., May 15.—Twenty-two hours ahead of the field, A. Payne, Clearmore, Okla., rested here tonight with the fifty-five bunioners still in the running in C. C. Pyle's cross-country Derby. Payne, with elapsed time of 476:57:40 for the 2,890.9 miles traversed since the Derby entrants set out from Los Angeles, March 4, kept his lead of twenty-one hours, fifty-nine minutes and twenty-five seconds over John Salo, Passaic, with whom he jogged on even terms today over the 48.5 miles from Ashtabula, O., to Erie.

Ed. Gardner, Seattle, set the pace for the day when he covered the distance in 6:09:30, an average of approximately seven and one-half miles an hour. Giusto Umek, of Italy, moved from sixth to fifth place by finishing second in 6:33:32.

The Derbyists will push on tomorrow for Jamestown, N.Y., sixty-three miles closer to the final goal, New York.

RAPID GROWTH OF CLUB SEEN

Twenty New Members Are Admitted to J.B.A.A. — Swimming Platform Completed at Gorge Quarters

BLUEBIRD READY FOR BIG SEASON

The rapid growth of the membership of the J.B.A.A. was clearly demonstrated at last night's meeting held in the clubrooms at the Gorge, when twenty new members were passed. An active membership campaign is now in progress, and as an incentive to encourage the boys to bring in new members, two prizes, one for the seniors, and one for the juniors, have been offered. These will go to the member bringing in the largest number of new members.

It was decided to enter a float in the May 24 parade depicting all activities of the club. No definite style has been set, but the officials promise something elaborate for the occasion.

BLUEBIRD READY

The club speed boat Bluebird was launched last night and given a trial run which she did to perfection. A new Paige six-cylinder engine has been installed, and the Bluebird is now ready for a heavy programme for the coming Summer. The new swimming house, one of the many attractive features of the club, will be completed and ready for use this week-end. A diving tower, with apparatus for regular diving boards, will be constructed in the near future. Already a number of the members have been swimming in the warm Gorge waters, and, in an effort to get things in shape for the aquatic performers, the building of the tower and the installation of the diving boards will be rushed forward.

In keeping with the new quarters, diving boards, diving tower and swimming platform, the launch Bluebird has had a new home built, and last night rested peacefully in her new quarters after performing the speed trial.

PASTROE QUITS AMATEUR RANKS AND TURNS PRO

Slugging Local Boy Will Fight on Joe Bayley's Card Here on Saturday Night Against Newman

FIELDING ALL SET FOR DAVIES MIX

Danny Pastroe, who has been the bone of contention among amateur bosses in British Columbia for several years, and more chiefly within the last six weeks, has again forsaken the amateur ranks, this time for good, it would appear. Pastroe has signed to fight professional on Joe Bayley's card to be presented at the Tillicum Club gymnasium Saturday night, and his alleged sins against the Simon-pure code will quickly be forgotten by the venerable sages of the almost inexplicable and obsolete form of amateur sport government.

Pastroe journeyed along the straight and narrow amateur path for several months, before charges hurled at him from various promoters were aired, aired again and then hung out with a two months' suspension tagged on. However, Pastroe "loves to fight," as he told one of the amateur dukes at a recent inquiry, and apparently his forced leave from the amateur ranks was not going to appease his hunger for a slugfest, for which the dark-haired mixer is noted. It just could not be done, and Pastroe decided once and for all to throw in his lot with the pro pugmen. He will fight Jackie Newman, of Vancouver.

Albie Davies, one of Victoria's best ring prospects, has been matched to meet a namesake, but of no direct relation, in the person of Jackie Davies, brother to Bud Davies, who is to appear in the ten-round headliner with Tommy Fielding. Albie appeared in last Saturday's card at Duncan and won his fight against a highly touted Vancouver boy by a wide margin.

Tommy Fielding went ten rounds last night at the Tillicum gym. He will work out again tonight, and tomorrow will wind up active training. The public is invited to watch him in training.

Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club Members Hold First Workout

Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club held a successful workout at the gymnasium and the Royal Athletic Park last night, with upwards of twelve runners taking part. The boys are getting in shape for May 24, when a large programme will be held at Nanaimo, and a strong team from the local institution will make the trip. Those at last night's workout were: F. G. Skillings, C. Connorton, H. Plowman, C. Copeland, V. Kennett, J. Moyes, C. Cunningham, A. Smith, W. S. Oliver, W. Crothall, G. Elliott and F. McDonald.

Y.M.C.A. SWIMMERS WILL GO TO TACOMA

Coach Archie McKinnon and a team of five junior swimmers will go to Tacoma on Saturday to compete in the Y.M.C.A. Pacific Northwest championships.

Swimmers making the trip are: R. Healey, P. Riddle, E. Roskelly, D. Walker and Albert Young.

OTTO VON PORAT'S KNOCKOUT STRING CHECKED BY DORVAL

CHICAGO, May 15. — Napoleon Jack Dorval checked Otto Von Porat's string of knockouts tonight when he won the verdict of the judges over the Norwegian heavyweight champion in ten rounds of savage fighting at the Coliseum.

The result was a distinct surprise, as the melancholy Norseman had knocked out four previous opponents in record time.

Doctor Eats Parasite To Discover a Remedy

Medical Missionary Returning From Japan Describes Action Taken to Investigate Disease That Takes Thousands of Lives Annually

The modern medical man's altruism and devotion to his profession is strikingly exemplified by Dr. C. H. Barlow, doctor-missionary in China for twenty years, who once deliberately infected himself with a Chinese parasite that annually claims thousands of lives, so that he might bring it to America and study it with the aid of the scientific instruments available on this continent.

Dr. Barlow told The Colonist the story on his arrival here yesterday from Japan aboard the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Iyo Maru.

He had studied the parasite in China for many years, Dr. Barlow said, and was eager to continue his research work with the aid of the facilities and laboratories of John Hopkins University, in the United States. Thus he tried to bring the parasite to America in bottles and in a variety of other containers, but all his efforts failed; none of the parasites could survive the journey.

There was only one possible method left for him to adopt, Dr. Barlow said, and that was to find a human carrier. He chose himself. He deliberately infected himself with the parasite and carried it thus to the high-powered microscopes of the university.

STILL FEELS EFFECTS

Dr. Barlow cured himself but, he says, though it happened six years ago, he still feels some of the evil effects of his experience. The disease can be cured, if treated in time, but each year thousands of Chinese die of it. It kills a human being within three years of infection.

The parasite is introduced into the body when the ling, or water nut, is eaten raw, as it invariably is. If the nut were cooked the parasite would be killed in embryo. Before finding a home on the ling nut, the parasite makes a host of the Chinese snail called plan orbis. It is very particular about choosing its victim, ignoring all other creatures but the snail. Within the snail it changes form several times before assuming the shape in which it floats on water for a time and then finds a second home on the ling plant.

NOT FOUND HERE

So far the parasite has not been found in this country. There is a North American snail, however, homologous to plan orbis, and Dr. Barlow will make experiments to ascertain whether the parasite will live in it. If it will not, he says, the disease will never exist on this continent.

On this trip Dr. Barlow has used a method he had developed of keeping the parasite eggs alive, so to speak, in a bottle. He had the bottle with him in his stateroom on the Iyo Maru, guarding its contents carefully.

Having given years of study to the parasite, Dr. Barlow is one of the foremost authorities on the subject. His thesis for a Ph.D. degree from John Hopkins University deals with the parasite. It is entitled "The Life Cycle of the Human Intestinal Fluke."

If he were given $30,000 for the purpose, he says, he could stamp out the disease in China. He may get this money from some such philanthropic institution as the Rockefeller Foundation, some day, or even from the Chinese Government, though he expects nothing from the latter source while civil war disrupts the country.

HOSPITAL BUILT

Dr. Barlow has lived in many cities of China, residing recently in Ningpo. A $250,000 hospital has just been built in Ningpo, he says. One-half of the money for this was subscribed by the citizens of the city, and the rest by the American Baptist Foreign Missions Society.

He is on his way to Lansing, Mich., where his wife and family are now living. Before returning to China he will take postgraduate work both on this continent and in London.

Mr. T. Okada, one of the most famous harmonica players of Japan, was also a passenger on the Iyo Maru, en route to the United States.

The Iyo brought a cargo of 3,500 tons across the Pacific. Of this a total of 500 tons was discharged at the Rithet Consolidated piers here. There were sixty-five passengers aboard the vessel in all classes.

After discharging local cargo, the Iyo sailed for Seattle at about 8 o'clock last night.

BIG SALMON FIRM FORMED

NEW CORPORATION TO ACQUIRE PACIFIC-AMERICAN FISHERIES

Capitalized at $7,500,000—Many Properties Included in Seattle Transaction

SEATTLE, May 15.—Formation of a $7,500,000 corporation to acquire and operate the Pacific-American Fisheries and associated properties were revealed here yesterday. The new concern, which, it is said, will be the largest packer of salmon in the world, is to be known as the Pacific-American Company.

E. B. Deming, president of the Pacific-American Fisheries, will be the executive of the new company. The consolidation embraces holdings developed by Deming since the formation of the Pacific-American Fisheries in 1905.

It was organized at that time with a capitalization of $450,000, and has since expanded and developed a world market. The company will be a self-contained organization with its own canneries, box and can factories, transportation facilities, warehouses and shipyards as well as fishing and marketing organization.

The properties include twelve canneries with a total capacity of 50,000 cases. The average pack for the last five years was nearly 735,000 cases, 12 per cent of the average American pack for the same period. The company operates four passenger and freight vessels in addition to many tugs, barges and auxiliary equipment. Warehouses at Bellingham will hold 1,200,000 cases and a can factory will produce 125,000,000 cans in a season.

A public offering of securities in the new company is expected.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tides rise or fall continuously during two successive tiday periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the drydock at any time, add thirty feet to the height of high water as given above.

MANY ATLANTIC HOPS PLANNED

EUROPEANS BUILDING PLANES FOR TRANSOCEANIC FLIGHTS

British Pilot Advertises for Twenty Passengers for London-New York Trip

LONDON, May 15.—As the warm winds from the South melt the icebergs off the banks of Newfoundland, and dissipate the fogs of Labrador, a small army of airmen in Europe is preparing to make the famous air hop from the Old World to the New.

If all the plans now announced bear fruit this Spring and Summer, the upper regions between London, Paris and Berlin and New York will be so clogged with aeroplanes, flying boats and dirigibles and almost any kind of what-not with a propeller, that the sea gulls will hardly stand a chance.

Undeterred by the heavy toll of death taken last year and already this year by the attempt to fly from the East to the West, at least a score of planes are being constructed, finished and tuned up for the long jump. Looming up in the background are a quartette of giant fellows, the airships.

ALL EUROPE BITTEN

Almost every nation of Europe seems to have been bitten by the transatlantic flight bug. Not only the larger nations like Britain, France, Germany and Italy, but the smaller nations like Sweden and Holland as well are entering on the great aerial sweepstakes.

Nor are some of the airmen content with a single flight. A few like Captain R. H. McIntosh, who attempted a flight last Summer, expect to fly over and back. McIntosh, with a flying boat, says he will make a double and triple crossing of both the North and South Atlantic.

The planes range from modest two-seaters like that of J. S. Charlton, of England, and his wife, Lady June Charlton, to the 135-passenger aeroplane planned by Professor E. Rumpler, of Germany. F. P. Young, an English pilot, is building a plane capable of carrying twenty passengers. He has adopted the unique experiment of advertising for passengers, saying he will fly July 1 from London to New York.

GERMANS RUSH PLANS

Stimulated by the success of the Bremen, German airmen are doubling their efforts. Three companies, the Junkers, the Seinkel and Rohrback firms, are rushing their entries to completion.

The dirigibles in course of construction, are attracting possibly more attention than the heavier-than-air craft. The R-100 is rapidly nearing completion at Howden, Yorkshire. It will carry 100 passengers, a crew of forty, ten tons of mail and make the journey from England to America in forty-eight hours. The flight will take place late in the Summer.

In England, moreover, a sister ship, the R-101, is proceeding more slowly. A semi-rigid airship, the BSB-1, about one-fifth of the size of the R-100, is planned by the British Airships, Ltd., for a transatlantic flight. In Germany, a Zeppelin is being built, competing in point of constructional speed with the R-100.

FINE VESSELS IN S.A. ROUTE

FIRST OF NEW GRACE LINERS SAILS FOR SOUTH AMERICA

Modern Ships Acquired for Long Run—Last Word in Luxurious Appointments

SEATTLE, May 12. — On her maiden voyage, the motorship Santa Maria, the first of two new passenger and cargo vessels for the Grace Line service from New York to Havana, Panama and Peruvian and Chilean ports, sailed from New York today, according to advices received by W. D. Vanderbilt, Seattle district manager for W. R. Grace & Co. The Santa Barbara, the other new craft, will be ready to enter the route in about two months. The Santa Maria and Santa Barbara will replace the steamships Santa Ana and Santa Louisa, which will be transferred to the Panama Mail Line operating between New York and San Francisco. These vessels have been renamed the Guatemala and Salvador, respectively.

The two new motor liners Santa Maria and Santa Barbara will offer to the South American traveler luxuries heretofore not available in that route. The ships equal the largest of the modern ocean greyhounds in the sumptuousness of their accommodations.

ARE SPEEDY

The new craft are twin-screw Diesel-engined motorships, 486 feet in length with a breadth of sixty-four feet. They are of 9,000 gross tons register with a displacement of 15,000 tons, built to maintain a speed of sixteen and one-half knots. They will embody every modern comfort for luxurious travel to the West Coast of South American ports, the service including eighteen ports of call between New York and Talcahuano, Chile, just south of Valparaiso.

Special attention has been given to the passenger accommodations on the new motor vessels, every room being an outside one—many with private bath and en suite—while all rooms have hot and cold running water. Each of the new vessels has spacious decks for outdoor sports, as well as large glass inclosed promenade decks, a veranda cafe and sun deck. Because of the varied changes in climate encountered on a trip from North America to South America, a modern thermotank ventilation system has been installed. The Santa Maria and her sister ship, the Santa Barbara, were built for the Grace Line by the Furness Shipbuilding Company, Ltd., of Middlesbrough, England.

RUSSIANS MAY BLOCK PARTY

STOLL-McCRACKEN EXPEDITION TO ARCTIC FACES DIFFICULTY

Soviet Government Refuses Permission for Explorers to Land at Kamchatka

Russian gunboats may prevent members of the Stoll-McCracken expeditoin to the Siberian Arctic from landing at Kamchatka or other points on Russian territory, according to Mr. Charles R. Stoll, who will sail from Bellingham today on the Pacific-American Fisheries steamer Redwood to join the explorers' auxiliary-powered schooner Effie M. Morrissey at False Pass, Alaska.

The Soviet Government has officially refused permission for the exploration party to touch Russian domain, Mr. Stoll, New York lawyer, sportsman and leader of the expedition, states.

The expedition is sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History. The party will search through the Aleutian Islands for what is believed to be cave-sheltered mummies of prehistoric men who traversed the islands and became the first settlers of North America.

Mr. Stoll said that although word had been received a month ago by New York newspapers that the Russian Government had granted the request that the expedition be allowed to land at Kamchatka, he had received official notification shortly before leaving that this permission had been refused.

Russian importers in New York are now interceding with the Soviet Government in an effort to have the ruling reversed.

The Morrisey, which sailed from Prince Rupert recently, was equipped for a voyage of eighteen months, although it is expected that the party will return by October 1. They will endeavor to enter Bering Straits by July 1 and return by August 31, but the extra provisions and supplies were taken aboard in the event that the craft should become ice-bound and unable to make the return trip before the straits freeze up the early part of September.

A month is to be spent in Alaska in search of specimens of wild game. After that the party will sail for the Aleutian Islands seeking the Mongolian mummies, reputed to be older than those of Egypt. If the Russian Government relents in its determination to keep the American expedition out, the party will stop at Kamchatka for several weeks during the Summer.

The Morrissey is commanded by Capt. Robert Bartlett, who also commanded the Roosevelt when Commander Peary sailed on the vessel and discovered the North Pole.

Destroyer at Mexican Port En Route Here

The Royal Canadian Navy's newly acquired destroyer H.M.C.S. Vancouver arrived at Manzanillo, Mexico, on Saturday, according to word received at naval headquarters, Esquimalt.

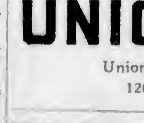

The Vancouver sailed the same day for San Pedro where she will stay for the next five days. She is due to arrive here on May 24.

Wheat production in New Zealand jumped nearly 3,000,000 bushels in the past year to a total of 7,570,000 bushels for the present season.

One night Professor Gazor, the great astronomer noticed through his telescope that various stars in one of the great constellations had different numbers of points to them. He was able to group these odd stars. This discovery so startled the scientific world that it was decided to find out what it all meant. After tremendous research it was decided that one of the planets was using this method to send the world an important message. By mathematical calculation Professor Gazor was able to decipher the message. His colleagues naturally wanted to know all about it, but he would not give them the message. He told them to work it out for themselves.

How He Did It

"You will notice," the professor told them, "some stars have three points, others four points, some five, or six points, etc. The number of points each star has determines what letter of the word of the message that star stands for. For instance if a star has three points it is the letter a. However, if it has four points it is either d, e, or f. Some stars represent only one letter, some 2 letters and some 3 letters. I have worked out the table code for you, now you count the number of points on each star and try to find what letter each star stands for, by referring to the table code. I have correctly arranged the stars so that each row of stars spells a word of the message. In order to help you a bit the first word is "Greatest."

FLOOD IN NICOLA

MERRITT, B.C., May 15.—Swollen by melting snows on the high hills, the Nicola River has overflowed its banks at the northern end of town, forcing several families to evacuate their homes.

Cattle, which were drowned in the river at Lauder's Ranch during the Winter, were seen floating down the river.

Nicola Lake is higher than it has been for many years and, should the hot weather continue, traffic along the lakeshore road may be endangered.

EXAMINATIONS AID LONG LIFE

DR. GORDON KENNING TELLS KIWANIS CLUB OF VALUE OF MEDICAL TEST

Periodical Health Inspections Will Vanquish Stronghold of Disease, He Declares

"An ounce of prevention lies in periodical health examination, and believe me, it is worth many pounds of cure," declared Kiwanian Dr. Gordon Kenning, in speaking to members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday on "Preventive Medicine and Health Examination," at the weekly club luncheon in the Empress Hotel ballroom, with President C. Elwood Watkins presiding.

Dr. Kenning stated that health examinations should be regular, painstaking and thorough, and they would sooner or later vanquish the last stronghold of disease. Most diseases were amenable to treatment in early stages, but generally were unaccompanied by pain. In order that these diseases might be detected, and their serious effects counteracted, periodic health examinations were of inestimable value and would add materially to the longevity of the people.

The speaker spoke of the advance made in preventive measures, asserting that efforts in this direction were often treated with indifference or vigorously opposed. Much had already been done along these lines, but there was much more yet to be achieved.

A review of the development of preventive medicine and the opportunities regular medical examination offered for saving to the community men and women in the prime of life, was given by Dr. Kenning.

Dr. Kenning stated that smallpox was being brought under control and could be wiped from the earth. Its continuance was a disgrace, and was due to the selfishness of some, and the ignorance and prejudice of others. The disease of tuberculosis was not satisfactorily solved, but progress in that connection had been made. "And today by a universal campaign of education and direction we are gradually bringing tuberculosis under control," he said.

Dr. Kenning was the recipient of a hearty vote of thanks for his instructive discourse.

Mr. Frederick Shepherd, who is appearing this week at the Coliseum Theatre, delighted the clubmen with his singing of two tenor solos, "Mother Machree" and "I Passed By Your Window."

Twenty Kiwanians intimated their intention of attending the Kiwanis International Convention, which will be held from June 17 to June 21 in Seattle.

Kingston Strike

KINGSTON, Ont., May 15.—Practically every building, contracting and supply business in Kingston, at a special meeting, notified the Building Trades Council that unless all workers on strike at the present time return to work before Thursday, other help will be employed from any source whatsoever, and they further ratify the action of the master plumbers in regard to this ultimatum to the Plumbers' Union who have been on strike since April 1.

At The Playhouses

CAPITOL THEATRE Molly O'Day, the year's sensation in "screen finds," who has played five leading roles in her first twelve months in pictures, is seen opposite Richard Barthelmess in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" at the Capitol Theatre this week. In "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," she plays a mountain girl, the sweetheart of the hero who saves the Union soldiers from death at the hands of guerilla bands. "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is the picturization of John Fox, Jr.'s, great story of the Kentucky mountains.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Dolores Costello, star of Warner Brothers' "Heart of Maryland," showing today at the Playhouse Theatre, has never been so appealingly beautiful as in the role of Maryland Calvert—the girl, who, while passionately loving the South, found her heart divided against itself in love for a soldier of the North. This exciting and glamorous story of Civil War days has had numerous revivals since it won fame for Mrs. Leslie Carter thirty years ago, and always successful ones. It is suffused with a passionate intensity which makes it perennially interesting.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Lovers of Winter sports will find a thrilling ski rescue in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Body and Soul," showing at the Columbia Theatre for the last times today. Ski experts of Canada and the United States participated in the novel rescue scene wherein more than a hundred men on skis dash down the towering mountains to the assistance of another who has been injured in an Alpine fall. All the skiers carry blazing torches.

DOMINION THEATRE "Two Arabian Knights" has been finished and picture-goers can see William Boyd in his first major screen appearance since his performance in "The Volga Boatman." This time the popular young star plays a comedy role, for "Two Arabian Knights" is a war-time story with most of the war, but none of the laughs, left out. "Two Arabian Knights" is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Mary Astor plays the girl, while Louis Wolheim takes the chief character role, that of Sergeant Peter McGaffney.

VARIETY THEATRE Billie Dove, in her latest starring picture, "The Love Mart," shows at the Variety Theatre today for the last times. The story brims with romance and thrills, with plenty of sword play, pirates, slave auctions and the like, to make up a stirring tale. Much of the comedy in "The Yellow Back," Fred Hume's starring vehicle, also at the Variety today, is supplied through the person of Willie Fung, considered one of the cleverest Chinese actors on the screen today.

COLISEUM THEATRE "Second to None," now current at the Coliseum Theatre, the Britannia Films production which features Moore Marriott in the role of the sailor-hero, opens with the burning of a tramp steamer, from which the only survivor is an orphan girl stowaway who is picked up by the battleship Bellatrix and adopted by the vessel's commander. "Second to None" is founded on stories by "Bartimeus" and was filmed with the sanction and co-operation of the Admiralty, on H.M.S. Tiger, Champion, Tara and Tarpon and certain other auxiliary vessels. Moore Marriott, Benita Hume, Ian Fleming, Micky and Aggie Brantford, Johnny Butt and Alf Goddard are in the cast. In addition to the picture there is a prologue by members of the Navy League of Canada, Victoria Branch, ably assisted by Frederick Shepherd, popular Scottish tenor.

WORLD CRISIS TWO WEEKS OFF

MR. E. E. RICHARDS FORECASTS DIRE EVENTS FOR BRITISH RACE

According to Pyramid Prophecy, May 29 Will See Start of Trouble

"On May 29 the next great world event will occur," said Mr. E. E. Richards in an address given at King's Hall on Monday evening. "If the average man does not realize that the British race will be in a period of tribulation during the early days of June of this year, then the whole inch-month scale of interpretation of the pyramid prophecy will be proved erroneous."

The speaker showed many slides that portrayed the passage system of the great pyramid, which he explained marked off the history of the old and new convenant periods, in a chronological line of one inch to a year, until the horizontal plain at the top of the great step was reached, and that an enlarged scale of one inch to a month commenced at that point.

The great epochs of the Bible, such as the flood, the exodus, the first advent, the duration of the Lord's life and ministry and the crucifixion and resurrection were all unmistakably shown hundreds of years before the events took place, he explained.

"From a Biblical point of view the great political disturbances of today are caused by the ending of the times of the Gentiles, a period of 2,520 years, commencing with the captivities of Judah. One of these periods ran out in 1917 and Jerusalem was delivered from the desolating Turk. This had been shown by various writers some forty years before the event transpired. The definite ending of these times occurs from 1928 to 1936, as shown by the second low passage of the great pyramid and confirmed by all writers on Biblical chronology," said Mr. Richards.

"As we progressed along the level plane, marking off the time at one inch to a month, we reached the first low passage at midnight between the fourth and fifth of August, 1914, the very time that the British ultimatum to Germany expired, and we emerged therefrom on November 11, 1918, which was the date of the Armistice.

"Entering the antechamber at this point we have enjoyed comparative peace, crisis after crisis has been encountered at forecast points, which have confirmed the inch-to-a-month scale, but these crises have all been prevented from developing and the League of Nations has received the credit, but there was a higher power than the League, which we are all too prone to overlook," he said.

"If the pyramid prophecy has any purpose to serve, that purpose relates to guidance during the last tribulation. If there is any uncertainty in its dating for tribulation beginning, where is the certainty of its guidance," concluded Mr. Richards.

"It Just Happens"

says Edna Wallace Hopper, "that your shoulders, for convenience and custom's sake, are covered. And how fine the texture of their skin!

"Your face must be the harbor for innumerable specks of dust and soot, lashed by the wind—treated harshly day in and day out. So if you thoughtlessly attempt to cleanse it with soap and water, ugly, large pores, seamy roughness result.

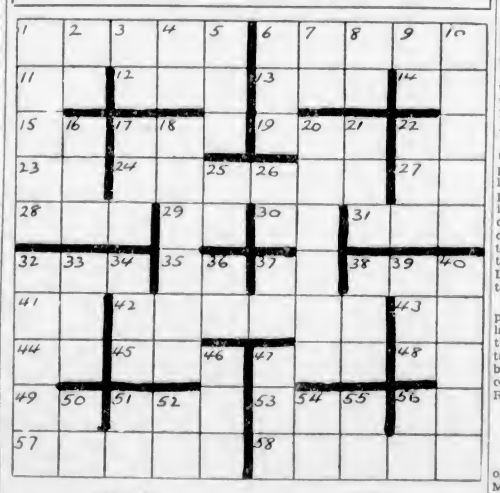

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

"Your face is entitled to the best of care. It's even easier than the hit-or-miss method of washing, which places additional tax on an overburdened skin.

"My French liquid cleanser, which I call Facial Youth, goes to the depths of your pores, gently, actually removes the dirt and soothingly undoes the harm of the wind and dust. It has a fresh, clean scent and is by far the best method I know of to protect and cleanse the face. Get Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth at any toilet counter." (Advt.)

Don't let the Joker hand you any Applesauce

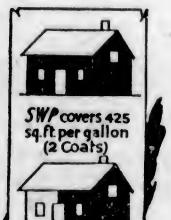

BUY a so-called "cheap" paint and you'll get a good sized Joker in every can of it.

Maybe somebody assures you that this low-priced paint is just as good as SWP. That's just plain "applesauce." The "cheap" paint will not give you as beautiful a job, as durable a job, or as economical a job as SWP. It just can't do it.

There's a Joker in the "cheap" paint can.

The "cheap" paint isn't cheap at all. The low price per gallon is a delusion because many more gallons of it are needed. About one half the quantity of good old SWP will do the job. And when it's done with SWP it's done right. SWP will last longer and look better. It has the Quality that stands up to wear and weather. Long after the "cheap" paint job has gone—faded out—the SWP painted surface will be in good condition. No Joker here. No "applesauce." A little more per gallon in the first place but you won't need as many gallons. And you won't have to do the job all over again in a year or so as you will if you fall for the spurious economy of the low price paint.

Give the "cheap" paint joker a wide berth. Go to the store of the Sherwin-Williams dealer—"Paint Headquarters"—and get his advice on the work you contemplate. He'll tell you you how much SWP will do the job. He'll give you helpful advice and useful free literature, including copy of the Sherwin-Williams "Household Guide."

HEADQUARTERS FOR RELIABLE NURSERY STOCK
FRUIT AND ORNAMENTAL

WHILE it is now rather late for planting Fruit Trees and Deciduous Ornamentals, this is the best time for the planting of Conifers, such as Cedrus Deodara and Libani, English and Irish Yews, Junipers, Cryptomerias, Retinosporas, etc., etc., and all the Broad-leaved Evergreens, such as Rhododendrons and Azaleas, Hollies, Laurels, Veronicas and many others.

These are shipped with a solid ball of soil adhering to the roots, and at this time when they are just starting to grow the root growth is most active, and they take most kindly to new surroundings if looked after when transplanted.

Come out to the Nursery on Winkinson Road and make your own selection from the growing stock. Ask for free catalogue.

While reports are current that an early ruling on the application of the C. & O. to acquire stock control of the Erie and the Pere Marquette can be expected shortly, a new angle to the situation was yesterday brought up. It is claimed that there has been a general agreement between the I. C. C. and the four existing trunk lines regarding the allocation of the Eastern independent mileage and that this agreement takes care of the principal provisions involved in the Chesapeake application; it is then quite possible that the I. C. C. will render no decision on Eastern consolidation until the ruling is made up on the trunk line plan to be presented to that body.

An advance in the price of copper to its highest level in eighteen months and a depletion of stocks on hand during April led to spirited buying of copper company securities yesterday. The price of the metal was raised ⅛c to ⅜c a pound. Stocks of refined copper declined sharply last month. The report of the American Bureau of Metal statistics shows productions and refiners of North and South American 72,893 tons on hand on May 1, a decline of 14,399 tons from April 1. Hornblower & Weeks — It looks to us as if this week's market, at least in its developing, would be featured by notable strength in rail equipments.

Bache—The current situation presents two factors which temper constructive enthusiasm into a more conservative attitude. The steady growth of brokers' loans, indicating widespread speculation and the progress of distribution, is one factor that is attracting increasing attention, but it has yet to leave the markets technical position in a sufficiently weakened condition to suggest the imminence of more than a minor corrective technical movement.

Secondly, the decidedly firmer tone in the money market commands attention since it followed a prolonged period of low money rates, to which influence the recent bull movement has to a credit extent been attributed.

"I had inward troubles and at times my face would look so puffy that it annoyed me. I was so dull and sleepy that I did not feel like doing anything and was not particular whether my work was done or not. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Toronto Globe and my sister told me it was extra good medicine. I found it so too, as I now feel bright and active like another person." —MIRIAM MAURER, R.F.D. No. 1, Elmira, Ontario.

For Change of Life

"I took the Vegetable Compound to help me pass the Change of Life. For two years I have had hot flushes, rundown feelings and prostration but am getting along fine now. I think the Vegetable Compound is good and you can use my name."—MRS. D. FERRIMAN, 942 Cloverdale Avenue, Victoria, B. C.

CHICAGO, May 15. — Wheat: From all the information we can gather on the wheat situation at home and abroad, we are inclined to think that if we had a little more domestic confidence, the foreign situation would help us get better prices. Our wheat is now around the mid-point of its entire range, and conditions at home and abroad appear to be enough below normal to justify above average prices for the next three months at least. Sales of Winter wheat for export are reported today for the first time in a long while, and there were also sales of durum. Europe must have a lot of wheat from this side during the next three months, and she will get it just as cheap as possible, but she will pay as much as she must pay to get it and that's where the trade has its opportunity to help the wheat farmer. In any event we believe the market has finally steadied after the decline and is likely to work irregularly higher.

Corn: The planting season for a large corn acreage is over, and we have now to see how much of an after planting run we are to have. Our own advices indicate very much below normal movement for the next ninety days. We believe corn also has had its break and that a higher than present average will prevail for some time.

Oats: While oats are moving in from the country points and terminals to satisfy May hedges, the total supply is constantly decreasing. At some points stocks are almost completely exhausted. Cash demand continues active and supplies in all positions are likely to be small at the end of the crop year so as to make excellent demand for the first run from the new crop.

Montreal Stock Letter

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

MONTREAL, May 15.—Interests working for higher prices in Montreal stocks encountered considerable selling on Tuesday, and the bull movement did not make the progress it usually does. The unsettled tone in Wall Street contributed a good deal to this, but there are periods when there appears to be more disposition to take profits than others, and this was one of the occasions. It is generally recognized that the prices are high, but traders think that the market is so safeguarded that a break of any magnitude is improbable. The theory sounds all right, but some think in practice it might not work so well, depending of course on what kind of adverse news should develop to start something. "The big push" in Shawinigan was forced to take a rest. At the start it seemed to be going good, and touched a new high at 109 3-4, but it was not long before it was off to 107, and it made only a fitful rally for the rest of the day. The street hears various price goals, most of which sound fantastical, but it is in the mood most of the time to believe any kind of bull dope. The advance of twenty points in Laurentide Power to 275, making thirty points in two days was associated with Shawinigan in the gossip, it being alleged that an exchange of shares on a three for one basis will take place "when and if" Shawinigan takes over the power property. Howard Smith had a fast ride from 150 to 165 in the past couple of days on the belief that in accepting $100 cash and two shares of new common the deal would be profitable, but it slumped ten points just as fast. Price Bros. also had a sharp rally to 119 on the report that the company will retire its $7,000,000 of preferred stock. There was a big market for Winnipeg Electric on out-of-town buying and it moved into new high ground at 128 3-4. It is presumed that the extension of the company's operations in Manitoba are regarded as bullish, in addition to the prospects of a two-for-one split and an increased dividend this year. Power Corporation, which is decidedly interested in Winnipeg, also touched a new high at 98, but is thought to be more concerned with the latest developments in B.C. Electric. There was an irregular tone in the newsprint group, but stocks like Brazilian and Nickel acted fairly well, having only slight reactions. The public is indisposed to look for serious weakness.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

DIET AND DRAINAGE

The British medical fraternity and, in fact, surgeons all over the world have been subjected to a series of shocks during the past few years because of the statements given to the press by Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the famous English surgeon. Doctor Lane is known as one of the world's most foremost surgeons, having been physician to the King of England and the royal family for many years.

In his work as a surgeon he originated a number of operations which other surgeons have honored him by naming such surgical procedure after him. For example, the "Lane's Link Operation" is a well-known operation for removing a condition known as "Lane's Kink." This is a peculiar kind of kink which Dr. Lane attempted to cure through removing a section of the intestine.

Doctor Lane must be credited also with the recommendation of the use of Russian mineral oil to overcome constipation. It is less than twenty years since Doctor Lane suggested the use of mineral oils, and today these oils for lubricating the intestines are refined and sold by the hundreds of millions of gallons yearly.

After nearly a half century of surgical practice, Doctor Lane has summed up his conclusions in an apt phrase when he says that "health is simply a matter of diet and drainage." This is the same viewpoint held by hundreds of health writers throughout the world. Some name autointoxication as the cause of all disease, others use the words, "toxicosis," "autotoxemia," "self-poisoning," "intestinal poisoning," and similar words and phrases which mean practically the same thing.

The homely truths which I give you daily in this column may practically be grouped under the titles of "assimilation" and "elimination." If you have been benefited through following my advice it is because you have learned better rules about the assimilation of foods and the elimination of waste products.

The hundreds of thousands of letters of appreciation which I receive prove to me that practically every disease can be prevented and even cured by the one who learns how to properly balance assimilation and elimination. This is getting back to certain fundamental truths as every physician must realize, even though there seems to be some practitioners of the healing arts who are looking for obscure causes of diseases and missing the common ones.

Readers are always more interested in the cure of desease than they are in preventing it, and seldom become interested in health until they have lost it.

Perhaps my readers would be interested in a series of articles explaining how disease already acquired may be cured through increasing the eliminative processes which the body must use. The principal channels of elimination are through the lungs, the skin, kidneys and intestines.

Tomorrow's article will explain how to increase elimination of toxins through the lungs.

Correspondents wishing to communicate with Dr. McCoy are advised that his address is Builders Exchange Building, Los Angeles, California, U.S.A.

GENERAL TREND IN DAY'S MART LOWERS PRICES

Airplane, Motor and Copper Issues Are Exceptions — Curtiss Continues Remarkable Advance

TRADING IN BONDS HIGHLY SELECTIVE

NEW YORK, May 15.—Despite violent speculation for the advance in a few airplane, motor and copper issues, the general trend of prices in today's stock market was toward lower levels.

In the airplane stocks, Wright soared 18 points to a new high at 214 1-2, and closed within a fraction of the top. Curtiss climbed more than 15 points to a new peak at 169 3-4, or more than three times the year's low price. Studebaker made a gain of 10 1-4 points at 77 1-2. It opened with a block of 60,000 shares at 71 3-4, the second largest individual transaction in the history of the exchange. General Motors crossed 205, dipping to 202 7-8 on realizing, and rebounded to 204 1-2 for a small fractional net gain. Chrysler opened at 81 1-2, a new high, but closed nearly a point lower at 80 3-9.

The announcement of an increase in the export price of copper brought fresh buying into that group.

New prices for the year or longer were registered by Anaconda, Calumet & Hecla, Granby, Nevada, Howe Sound and United States Smelting preferred, and American Zinc common.

American Bank Note broke another 11 points to 130, or nearly 30 points below the recent high. Archer Daniels Midland broke more than eight points, and declines of three points or more were recorded by American Tobacco, Consolidated Gas, Interborough Rapid Transit, National Supply and Victor Talking Machine prior preferred.

Total sales 4,557,300 shares.

The bond market continued today with price changes limited. Most of the trading, which was highly selective, appeared in speculative issues and convertibles. There were indications that buying has been curtailed through diversion of available funds to the call and time markets.

Winnipeg Grain

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, May 15.—Wheat—The wheat market was steady during the first period this morning, prices declining slightly under last night's close, but reacted sharply in sympathy with the upturn in Chicago, local prices climbing about 1 1-2 cents over the previous close.

While there was not the same disposition to sell the market as on the past few days, the buying power was not particularly good, and outside of a little buying early by seaboard houses, the trade was largely local, with shorts being forced to cover. There was some export business worked overnight, but the volume was said to be disappointing.

There was a little better demand for cash wheat, reflecting the export business and a little buying by mills. Spreads were about unchanged to fractionally higher on one or two grades. Broomhall reported that the foreign demand for wheat was astonishingly quiet, and that the Continent was not taking advantage of the break in prices to replenish their pre-harvest requirements, as native offerings were more liberal owing to the improved weather. Rains were general over Winter and Spring wheat territory in the United States, but light in Spring wheat territory.

There was no precipitation in Western Canada, but conditions are considered very favorable, with sufficient moisture for the time being, and seeding is being completed under ideal conditions. Some of the local trade have been selling the nearby months and buying the October, owing to the heavy cash situation. Liverpool closed unchanged to 3-4 higher. The market may do a little better this week, but would not follow the bulges too far.

Coarse Grains — These markets were stronger today, showing a reaction from the decline of yesterday. There was some domestic demand for oats, while there was some short covering. Otherwise the markets were featureless except that offerings were very light.

Flax—Stronger, closing one cent higher, largely in sympathy with the upturn in other commodities. Some inquiry from American crushers, but trade not large.

New York Stock Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, May 15.—The call money rate continued at 5 1-2 per cent and early dealings reflected activity in shifting into the copper into section of the list in recognition of higher red metal prices. Oils were firm on the impressive lowering in production as reported today. General Motors contended with active selling and worked lower, also Radio was in moderate supply. Independent motors were featured by the active demand for Studebaker at rising prices. Hupp, Nash were also featured in the rally. Steel shares were fractionally better. Rails reflected some shifting from these shares into the copper division. Aeroplane shares were the buoyant features in the specialty group. Among the soft spots Certainteed Products was offered down on its disappointing earning report for the first quarter. The advance today by producers for copper shipments abroad of 1-8 cent a pound was the outstanding copper news that shares in the red metal section recognized. The oil production figures showed a falling off of over 99,000 barrels daily in the weekly report. Also Penna refiners advanced gasoline 1-8 cent a gallon. Coppers should become more prominent on the upside, also the oil news is conducive to a better feeling with respect to shares in the petroleum section of the list. There is a lessening in the disposition to follow the rallies in among the recent favorites, and some of these shares are reflecting recent distribution.

VANCOUVER EXCHANGE

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

VANCOUVER, May 15.—The mining issues assumed leadership in today's operations on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, Grandview, Bayview and Lucky Jim being strong favorites, although the net price change was not large.

Pend Oreille and Premier continued weak spots, the former, on a small trade, easing off 25c to $17.50, and the latter forfeited 2c to $2.26 on sales of 3,400 shares.

Bayview, with transactions of 32,250 shares changing hands at 8½c, Monday's closing price, led in volume, followed by Grandview with sales of 17,500 shares and a net advance of 1c to 48½c. Big Missouri, on a turnover of 8,700 shares, improver 2¼c to 62½, and Lucky Jim, traded in to the extent of 14,500 shares, closed at 34½c, unchanged.

Home Oil, after holding steady at $3.42 most of the day, eased off in the late trading, closing 12c lower at $3.30 on sales of 1,150 shares. Dalhousie Oil was unchanged at $2.95. Whitewater closed 5c lower at $2.34.

Whitney Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, says today:

"While I do not believe that there is anything which can be designated by the name of reaction in the making, I believe that with relatively few exceptions it will pay to await some moderate recessions today before making any long commitments. The additional advance in the copper group, which has been clearly indicated for weeks past, coincides with an actual advance in the price of the metal, and should be followed by a similar performance on the part of the zinc and lead stocks. The rail group should, before the end of the day, have had a sufficient reaction from its recently established new high record to make this group a purchase again for a new advance later in the week. Sound oils are still in a buying range with the greater proportion of which will be their total advance.

"Pullman is through to a new top and should go to a price of $100 a share on this phase of its advance.

"Above 200, profits can be accepted in American Smelters on a scale up.

"A new high record for Chrysler makes it advisable to await reaction before making any contemplated commitments. At approximately prevailing prices I recommend purchase of United States Steel for a resumption of advance, Standard Oil of New York, Canadian Pacific, Texas & Pacific, Hudson & Manhattan, and Brooklyn Man. Transit.

"While the passing of the Collins Aikman dividend was totally unexpected, I believe that nothing other than a corporate technical move is involved, and definitely recommend against disposing of the stock. American Solvents and Chemical preferred is still cheap under 40, its purchase is again recommended."

GRAVEL TAX TO BE PROTESTED

NANAIMO CITY COUNCIL ENDORSES TRAIL COUNCIL'S RESOLUTION

Will Make Arrangements for Entertainment on Occasion of Visit of H.M.S. Durban in June

NANAIMO, May 15.—The City Council held its regular meeting last evening. A lengthy communication was read from Mr. W. E. Moneypenny, clerk of the Trail City Council, explaining the purpose of a resolution attached. The resolution was in the form of a protest to be forwarded to the Government concerning the imposition of a proposed tax on gravel and crushed rock which might be sold to be put on the streets of the city, or on public roads, as far as could be gleaned from the reading last evening. Mayor Busby explained briefly that "the Dominion Government is trying to impose a tax on crushed rock and gravel," and he thought the Trail resolution of protest should be endorsed. Alderman Barsby, of the street committee, moved to this effect, the motion being seconded and carried.

Nanaimo is to be visited on June 24 to 30 by H.M.S. Durban, a ship of the West India Squadron, according to a communication received from Mr. G. J. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of Defence. The letters, as read to the council, and on motion of Alderman Barsby, was referred to the council in committee to deal with the entertainment end of the visit.

THANKS FOR DONATION

A letter was received from Mr. M. C. Ironside, secretary of the Nanaimo Board of Trade, expressing the thanks of the board to the council for their donation of $200 for publicity purposes. Mr. Ironside is a member of the council, and later in the meeting when a letter was read from Secretary Moore, of the local branch of the British Columbia Automobile Club, he explained the action the Board of Trade had taken regarding Mr. Moore's request. The latter asked that on behalf of farmers of Cedar District the council appoint a delegate to accompany a delegation of farmers to Victoria to interview Hon. Dr. Sutherland on the oiling of the road leading to and over the "Speedway" in Cedar District. Alderman Smith could not see why the Automobile Club secretary should write the council on behalf of the farmers. Alderman Ironside explained the whole question had been taken up by the Automobile Club, the farmers, and the Board of Trade, and it had been deemed advisable to have as strong a delegation as possible to go to Victoria to interview the minister.

Mayor Busby gave an added explanation to the effect that, when there was talk of paving the road south of the city, the council had urged the paving of the stretch leading to Cassidy. This had cut out a portion of a much used highway, and the farmers had always felt a little resentment against the council's action. On motion of Alderman Barsby, Mayor Busby was appointed as the council's representative on the delegation.

Mr. R. Richardson, of the Board of Railway Commissioners, wrote giving dates of sittings of the board in British Columbia, which included Vancouver, June 25, and Victoria, June 28. Alderman Ironside moved the letter be held for reference, explaining that the board of trade had thought it possible that the board could be induced to sit in Nanaimo, and work towards this object was now on. Possibly working in conjunction with the council, more could be accomplished. His motion was carried.

A NOISY ENGINE

A petition was received from a number of residents stating that a nuisance was being caused in the first block on Kennedy Street by the operation of an engine by the Brewery Company there. The petition complained of the noise of the engine, day and night, and also of the fumes of ammonia used in the manufacture of ice. No beer was being made. The management had made improvements to do away with the noise of the engine. On motion of Alderman Smith, the petition was referred to the medical health officer and sanitary inspector for action.

The warrant book containing accounts totaling $20,051.36 was brought down, and the accounts ordered paid.

The water committee reported in favor of installing a six-inch pipe on Pine Street, from Wentworth Street, to Fitzwilliam Street, at an estimated cost of $1,158.15. Alderman Hart, chairman of the committee, explained that the work contemplated would finish off work started last year, and would complete a much needed circuit. The recommendation was adopted, and the work will be done at once.

Public Works Foreman Shepherd reported an expenditure during the past week on streets of $536.11, and on waterworks, $75.60.

Mother's Day Service

LAKE COWICHAN, May 15.—On Sunday morning a very pretty and inspiring service was held in the schoolhouse by Mr. Warr. It was a special service in honor of Mother's Day and a very large congregation filled the building. Mr. Warr chose as the subject for his address, "Mother," and took each letter and gave it a meaning appropriate to the significance of this beautiful word. Violet Brooks sang very sweetly as a solo, "I Would Be True, for There Are Those Who Love Me." Mrs. Baylis very kindly played the hymns. Rene Castley read a story about angels.

In the evening Mr. Warr went to Youban, where he held a service in honor of Mother's Day.

KEATING, May 15.—The South Saanich Junior Institute Club met at the home of the president, Miss Nellie Styan, Central Saanich Road, on Saturday afternoon, when there was an excellent attendance of members. After carefully considering the subject, it was decided that girls of fifteen years or over would be eligible for club membership.

During the Summer months the meetings will be changed to the second Thursday evening of each month instead of the second Saturday afternoon. Men Teachers Won't Serve Under Women

LONDON, May 14.—Per economic reasons the process of staffing junior mixed schools with women is leading to the exclusion of men as heads and as class teachers. Facing this condition of things the National Association of Schoolmasters, in conference at Newcastle-on-Tyne, recently, by resolution reaffirmed their opposition to an assistant master serving under a head mistress, and pledged support to any member refusing to serve under a woman chief.

"Imagine," said C. Freeborough, London, "the feelings of an assistant master with a grown-up family on being told what to do by a young spinster graduate who had been appointed head mistress."

They all knew, he added, how meticulously sure a boy was in sizing up a man. "What would be a boy's estimate of a man who took orders from a woman? What would it be in your own homes? No woman could handle and educate a boy in the same degree as a man could."
